Dukakis, Bush top party vote getters in Hancock

Taylor to face White in Fifth Congressional District Demo runoff

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Bay St. Louis' Gene Taylor will face Glenn L. White in a runoff election March 29 as they vied for the Democratic nomination for Fifth District House of Representatives. Taylor, who is currently serving his second term as Mississippi Senator District 46, received more than 80 percent or 2,981 votes cast for this position in Hancock County. He was also in first place in the district with 35 percent of the votes.

White won his spot in the runoff with approximately 28 percent of the vote. He is the district attorney for Forrest and Perry counties. Jim McVeay was in third place with 18 percent of the votes followed by Fowler with 10 percent, Joe Stone with six percent and Arlon (Blackie) Coate with three percent. In Hancock County, White had 313 votes; McVeay, 194; Fowler, 106; Stone, 72; and Coate, 49.

Also in a runoff election for this congressional spot are Republican candidates George Robert Hall of Hattiesburg and Larkin I. Smith of Gulfport.

Smith had 49 percent of the Republican vote cast but did not get the needed 50 percent to win without a second primary election.

Hall followed with 30 percent. Long Beach Mayor Glen Mitchell finished in third place.

Christopher Roosa and Richard Vogel finished fourth and fifth respectively in the Republican primary.

In order of favorites in Hancock County were Smith, 1,135; Hall, 534; Mitchell, 350; Roosa, 185; and Vogel, 61.

In the United States Senator race Congressman Wayne Dowdy won the Democratic nomination with 54 percent of the vote for the seat which has been held by John C. Stennis for the past 41 years.

Winning this nomination, Dowdy defeated Secretary of State Dick Molpus gained 43 percent in this race.

Molpus was Hancock County's choice for the nomination. Here he finished first with 1184 to Dowdy's 1,655 votes.

In third place both in the county and district was Gilbert Fountain with 247 votes or four percent district-wide.

Eight-term Representative Trent Lott was unopposed in his bid for Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate seat. He received 2,162 votes in Hancock County.

Also unopposed on the Republican ballot was Supreme Court Judge District 2 candidate John Henry Crouch.

Democrat Ed Pittman outdistanced opponents Eugene L. (Gene) Fair, Alonzo Holmes Sturgeon and Jon A. Swartzfager.

Pittman carried Hancock voters with 1,940 votes to 846 for Fair; 476 for Swartzfager; and 345 for Sturgeon.

In the Presidential Preference vote, Vice-President George Bush, easily won the Republican nomination in Hancock County, on the Coast and statewide.

In the Super Tuesday election Bush gained more than 550 of the 712 Republican delegates at stake in the 14 Southern and border states.

Hancock County Republican voters cast 1,595 for Bush of the total 2,232 total votes.

Senator Bob Dole was in second place with 362 votes and former evangelist Pat Robertson received 220 votes.

Representative Jack Kemp took 93 votes in Hancock County and Pete DuPont and Alexander M. Haig Jr. each had 11 votes.

Michael S. Dukakis had the most votes from county residents in the Democratic Presidential Preference race.

Hancock County Dukakis Campaign Chairman Victor J. Frankiewicz said the candidates winning margin locally was higher than in any other county in Mississippi.

Dukakis led in Hancock County with 1,145 votes or 31 percent to Al Gore's 968 votes. They were followed by Jesse Jackson with 566 votes; Richard Gephardt, 437; Gary Hart, 350; Bruce Babbitt, 87; Paul Simon, 76; and Lyndon LaRouche, 40.

Statewide winner in the for the Democratic delegates was Jesse Jackson.

'Government cheese' to be thing of the past

Mississippi Welfare Commissioner Thomas H. Brittain Jr. reports the United States Department of Agriculture has cutbacks in commodity foods for needy households.

Effective April 1, rice and honey will no longer be received from USDA for distribution to needy households. Cheese and dry milk will no longer be received effective May 1.

Current state inventory of these commodity foods will allow distribution to needy households through the Month of July 1988, Brittain revealed.

Since the state has the option of continuing to accept available supplies of butter, flour and cornmeal through September, 1988, it will do so even though clients may not find it cost effective to travel to welfare offices to receive just these three products, Brittain noted.

The program phase-out is a federal government decision that is based upon the decrease in United States surplus farm products.

He added, "The termination of this program means to Mississippi the loss of approximately $15 million in food products and $80,000 in federal funds used for state and county administrative costs and shipping/storage outlets."

The food surplus program began in 1983 with Public Law 98-9 which established the Temporary Emergency Assistance Program (TEFAP) authorizing the distribution of surplus agricultural commodities and authorized $50 million for the cost of storage and distribution.

The intent of the program was, and continues to be, to make food available to needy persons and families, including unemployed and low-income persons.

Donations of commodities were administratively initiated in 1981 as part of efforts to reduce vast stores of commodities.

Mississippi's first distribution was in August 1983 with cheese and butter. The program has grown to include dry milk, flour, cornmeal, rice and honey. "Last year in Mississippi we served over 980,000 households at no cost to the state," the commissioner stated.

Murder trial postponed

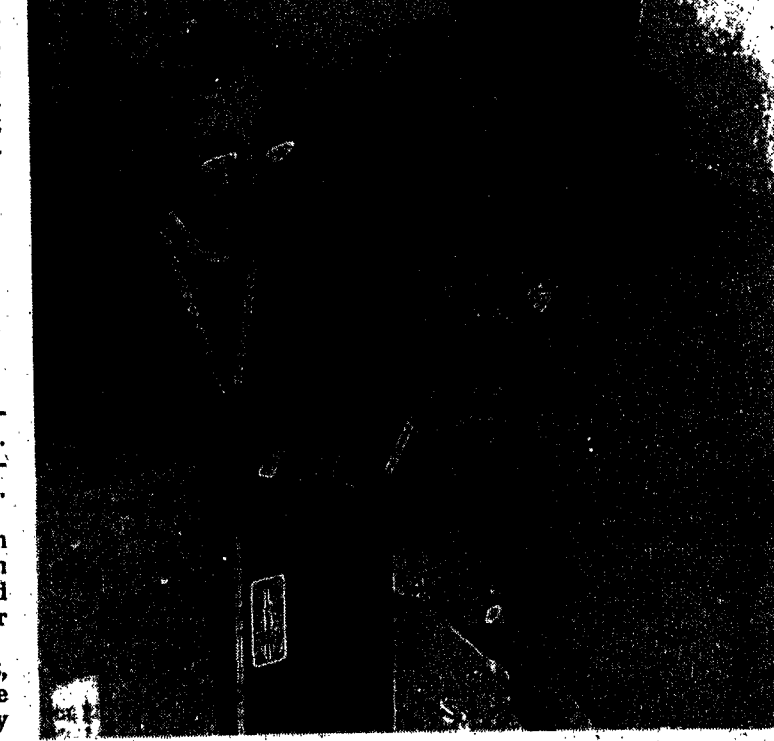

The murder trial of Reggie J. Barrios has been indefinitely postponed. Barrios, 22, of Lakeshore is accused in the Oct. 19 death of Charles F. Nixon, 51, of Clermont Harbor.

Barrios allegedly stabbed Nixon during an altercation at a party in Clermont Harbor, where Nixon and his wife had gone to pick up their 15-year-old son.

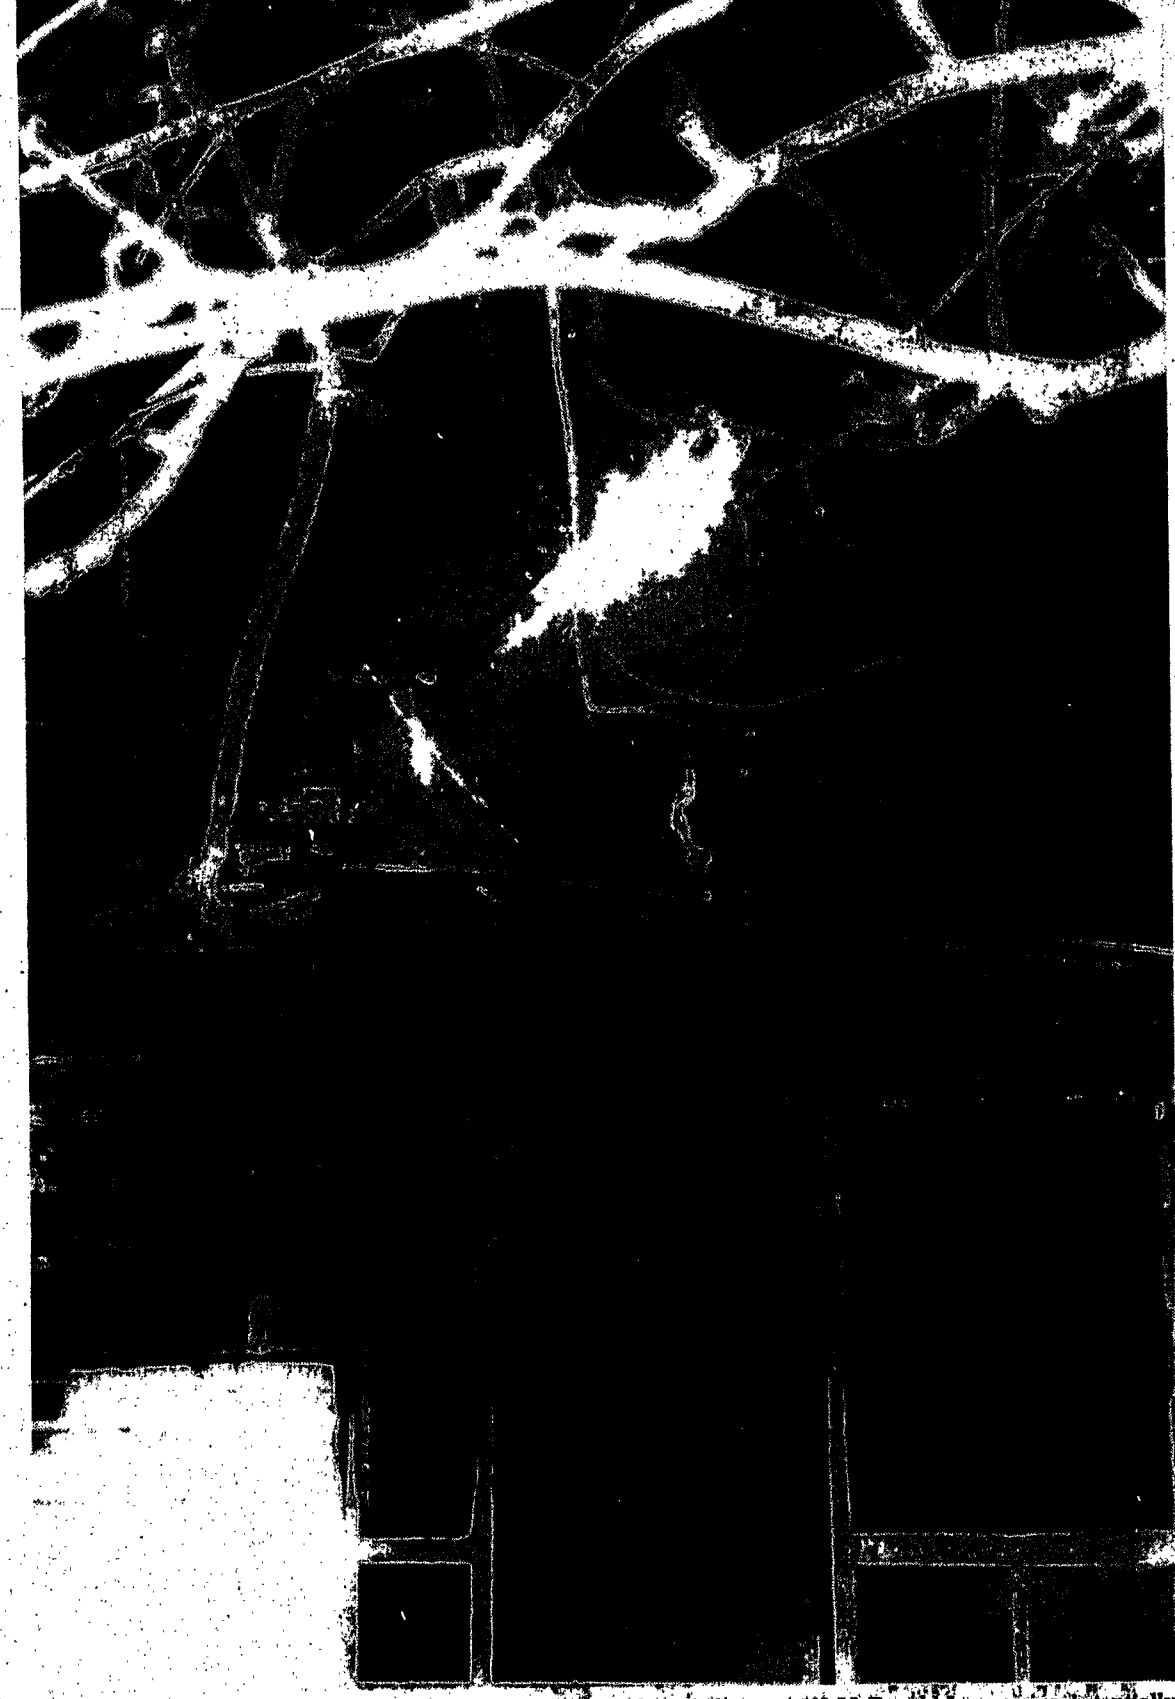

The request for the postponement, granted by Circuit Court Judge James Thomas, was made by defense attorney Nicholas Haas.

DEMOCRATIC RETURNS—Daniel Seal, right, signs over the Democratic ballots for Catahoula precinct to Alonzo Daniels, Democratic executive committee member, left, as Conrad Maufray reads the returns from a county precinct. A Democratic run-off election will be held on March 29 between Gene Taylor, state senator from Bay St. Louis, and Glenn L. White, district attorney for Forrest and Perry counties of Hattiesburg, for the United States House of Representatives Fifth District nomination. In Hancock County's unofficial returns Taylor received 2,981 votes to White's 313. The Hancock County Democratic executive committee is scheduled to meet tonight to certify the county's returns. A Republican second primary election will be held on Tuesday, March 29 for United States House of Representatives Fifth District between George Robert Hall and Larkin I. Smith to decide the nominee. In Hancock County Smith received 1,135 unofficial votes to Hall's 502. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

RESIDENCE FIRE—The home of Allen Young and Donald McCollister at 109 McDonald Lane was substantially damaged Tuesday night by fire. The fire remains under investigation by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department. Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh also investigated the premises Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. No additional information was available from the Bay fire department on the incident. (Photo by Mike Seawater)

Update on Choosing a Tax Preparer

By Janet K. Lukens
 Area Consumer
 Management Specialist

The new tax laws have been a cause for concern for many taxpayers. Because of their concern, many are turning to professionals for their tax preparation.

To assist taxpayers in determining whether they need a tax preparer and how to select one, the Federal Trade Commission provides the following information.

Do you need a tax preparer? Before you decide to hire a tax preparer, make sure you really need to pay for assistance. With a little help from the IRS, you may be able to do as good a job as a commercial tax preparer. Of course, this depends on the complexity of your tax situation.

If you use the short (1040) form, IRS will complete most of it for you and compute your taxes for free. If you have questions about how to complete your return, you may be able to get answers by using the IRS free informational resources. If you remain unsure about how to do your taxes, the following information may help you comparison shop for a suitable tax preparer.

2. Choosing a preparer: To find the preparer that best suits your needs, call several and ask:

► "What is your training or experience in preparing returns?"

► "How do you check for accuracy? Will someone else double-check my return? If so, will it be reviewed for arithmetic errors only or also for errors in tax-law interpretation?"

► "Approximately how much will preparing my taxes cost? How is that fee determined?"

► "Where can you be reached later in the year, if I need help with an audit?"

► "Can you represent me if IRS audits my return? What will you charge?"

4. It's up to you. Even though you have hired someone to prepare your returns, you are personally liable for any additional tax, interest, or penalty, even if you have a written guarantee that the preparer will pay any interest or penalty assessed as a result of his or her work. Here are some ways to help you get the best possible work done on your returns:

Gather and bring to the preparer any information or documents that might apply to your taxes, including your last year's return. Remember, too much information is better than too little.

Make a list of any tax-related questions that occur to you and ask the preparer about them.

After your return is prepared, check it to make sure all the information is correct.

Prepare early. You will have an advantage if you complete your tax return early. The earlier you get your taxes prepared, the more time busy tax preparers will have to do a thorough job for you.

Correction

An account of the Feb. 29 Hancock County Board of Supervisors meeting which appeared in the Thursday, March 3 edition of Sea Coast Echo incorrectly identified the Bay-Waveland-Hancock County Civil Defense Director, Robert Boudin.

The man erroneously listed as having that job title, Norbert Redmond, is actually head of the utilities department for City of Bay St. Louis.

College education no more than 45 minutes away in Mississippi

By DR. T.J. ALEXANDER
PEARL RIVER COLLEGE

Thanks to community and junior colleges, Mississippians can get a great education right in their own backyard. And that is just one of the reasons why Pearl River and its 14 sister institutions have been so significantly successful.

Despite the fact that all Mississippians reside within a 30 to 45 minute drive from a community college campus, there are still those who are unaware of this and other reasons why community and junior colleges have become so vital to Mississippi's development.

In addition to being able to secure quality education close to home, many Mississippians find the community/junior college experience to be extremely attractive financially; the tuition is less than half the cost of attending a four-year institution.

A record number of 17 and 18-year-old students, as well as many adults, have found that PRC is a very comfortable and easy transition to make as they leave familiar surroundings to pursue opportunities in higher education.

In an effort to make all Mississippians aware of our community/junior college system, Pearl River and its sister institutions are joining with more than 1200 other community, technical and junior colleges across the United States in a celebration of past success and future achievements of community colleges and their students.

"Where America Goes to College" is the theme for this Community College Month.

It's easy to document the great number of Mississippians—the great number of Americans—who are attending a community college.

More than four million students took credit classes at America's community colleges last year, representing over 41 percent of all undergraduate students and 55 percent of all first-time freshmen in the U.S.

Here in Mississippi over 60 percent of all college freshman and sophomores are enrolled in the public community/junior college system. Of the 60,000 students, about half are in the college parallel transfer system while a large number are in vocational, technical, industrial services and other programs related directly to developing a technically skilled workforce.

Statistics, numbers, and percentages are easy to compare and, most of the time, easy to understand. However, the real thing that is becoming more and more obvious to Mississippians and other Americans across our great land is the "mission" of community colleges.

Community colleges are local. We are the grassroots system with statewide and nationwide impact. To borrow a well-known advertising slogan... "We are truly the heartbeat of America."

Community colleges attract a cross-section of the community, men and women—young and old—attend classes during the day and evening hours. The term "student" encompasses the recent high school graduate who is aspiring to become a lawyer, a doctor, a public school teacher, or a contractor, a welder, a machinist, an auto mechanic or... the list goes on.

A community college student is a woman returning to school after raising her family or a man interested in upgrading his job skills. Perhaps it is a man or a woman who has lost his or her job and must now prepare for a second or even third career.

Here at Pearl River smaller classes, experienced faculty, low cost and convenient location attract some, while others find our broad scope of instruction and exciting learning environment appealing.

I think Thomas P. O'Neill, former speaker of the house, said it best, "Because of community colleges, millions of Americans have been given the opportunity not just to train themselves but also to become knowledgeable in the full range of human experience."

Our purpose here at Pearl River Community College is to produce quality programs at a cost that the student and the public can afford. We must always be capable of responding to the needs of our citizens.

It is essential that we remain community-based and cost-effective. It is also imperative that we continue to offer a caring environment with comprehensive programs, with liberal arts and vocational/technical education programs, working together harmoniously.

It is a must for our community colleges to provide a learning environment which means our faculty is a crucial element of the community college success story.

Getting back to the cold, hard facts—community college faculty and staff must meet the same qualifications as they would for the same level and field in the universities, yet since 1982 community college faculty salaries have fallen from 87 percent to 81 percent of the Southeastern average.

Our community college enrollment has increased twenty percent during a time that state appropriations have fallen from $60 million to $6 million.

Mississippi's greatest asset is its people. And the community college system is the most responsive vehicle for developing this asset on a statewide basis. Here at Pearl River we are proud of our students and our faculty who are providing quality education to the community. We have asked all Mississippians to join with us in celebrating National Community College Month.

Governor's Weekly Report

BY GOV. RAY MABUS

By GOV. RAY MABUS

This is the first of two columns I will be writing about several important issues during my term as governor—day care and adult literacy.

Julie, my wife, will be spearheading our efforts in these areas and you will be hearing a lot from her in the days ahead.

This week I will write about day care.

Some people think of day care as nothing more than baby sitting, but it is much more than that. Day care is an economic development issue.

Studies clearly show that day care are more productive, take less sick leave and have higher morale. This shows up in the bottom line of the employer.

More and more women are entering the workforce because it is a matter of economic survival for their families. Currently, about half of all mothers work. By the mid-1990s an estimated two-thirds of all mothers will be working.

Yet, if adequate day care is not available, many women will have to stay at home. This could put a crippling financial burden on families and too many of our citizens will remain on welfare.

Julie and I believe that quality day care for all our citizens will help get Mississippi children off to the right start in life. We are committed to establishing a partnership between state government and private

'A Prairie Home Companion' goes baroque

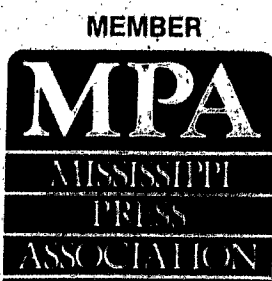

In a rebroadcast of "A Prairie Home Companion" celebrating the birthday of Johann Sebastian Bach, Garrison Kellor reminds us, lest we forget, that the old master was "a hard worker, a good dad, a regular guy, a Lutheran, a schoolteacher and a genius."

On Saturday, Mar. 12, PRM repeats this popular episode, recorded during the 1985 festivities surrounding the 300th anniversary of the birth of Bach, which includes the familiar "Hello, Love," "Regatta and Feud" and other new arrangements and transcriptions of Bach's music performed by the "Biscuit Baroque Ensemble."

"A Prairie Home Companion" is broadcast Saturdays at 10 a.m., with a rebroadcast Sundays at 2 p.m. on PRM.

There is more to celebrate in March than Bach's birthday, however; spring is coming, and Greg Brown, Dave Moore, Peter Ostrouschko and Butch Thompson welcome it with fandangoes, polkas and ragtime on this edition of "A Prairie Home Companion." Kellor describes the signs of spring in Lake Wobegon, from the coming of bluebirds to the appearance of a Hawaiian shirt on a Norwegian Bachelor Farmer.

Public Radio in Mississippi, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast statewide and from Biloxi FM frequency 90.3.

business to make sure day care is available.

We are not talking about a massive, state-financed day care program. There are a number of other, viable alternatives.

While attending the National Governor's Association Mid-Winter Conference in Washington recently we heard about a number of approaches to day care that have worked effectively elsewhere.

Many businesses, realizing that day care is valuable to them, make day care a regular part of the benefits they provide to their employees.

Some businesses provide day care facilities at the work place. Other businesses issue vouchers that can be used at existing day care facilities in the community. In still other cases, businesses have pooled their resources to provide badly needed day care services so as not to impose too great a burden on any one business.

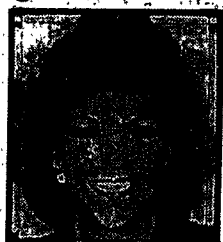

Often, parents are perfectly willing to pay for day care service, but they need help finding good care. Therefore, some businesses act as a referral service to help those parents find the day care they need.

What can the state do to help? First, Julie plans to oversee a study to determine Mississippi's day care needs and what facilities currently are available. With public input, she hopes to develop recommendations on what the state can do to help meet those needs.

As a part of this study, we want to see if Mississippi is getting all the federal and/or private grant money available for the establishment of day care programs.

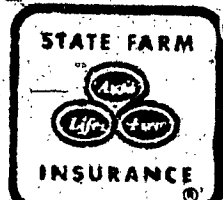

Our children and our future, and it is crucial that state government do all it can to preserve the family unit and ensure that children get the quality care they need during their formative years.

New school calls for extension of four-laning

A request for an extension of the four-laning of Highway 603 (or Highway 43 as it is referred to by the State Highway Department) recently made at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors should really be given priority by the state.

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph made a request for four-laning of Highway 603 at least to Stennis International Airport.

At a recent hearing held by the Mississippi State Highway Department, several residents in attendance requested an extension of the four-laning to the Highway 43 junction.

The current plans call for the first half-mile North from US-90 will consist of a widened version of the existing highway, while a pair of lanes will be constructed on the west side of the existing two lanes to Interstate 10.

On numerous occasions our elected officials have requested the four-laning of Highway 603.

A new high school is to be constructed adjacent to Stennis International Airport. This should really increase the traffic count on Highway 603, especially near the new school.

To change a highway or section of a highway from two to four lanes is not done over night, as the entire process takes many years.

All of a sudden the traffic count will increase on Highway 603 near the new school, and it will be years of waiting before the highway will be four-laned in that area.

It would be wise now for the State Highway Department to consider extending the four-laning of Highway 603 North at least to the airport exit.

Homeowners urged to consider outdoor 'Spring cleaning'

March 3, 1988

To the Editor:

DeMontuzin has been a proud old avenue! Those of us who have lived here for so many years have worked hard to maintain, beautify, and, yes, improve our properties.

It would be a wonderful time for us to commit ourselves to improvement as we look forward to the annual Spring Pilgrimage to our city. We need to prune, paint, plant and polish up a bit for the occasion.

Look at your home site with the eyes of a stranger—do you see a place which would be classified as part of a "quaint old town" or just a rundown property?

We need to clean fence rows and the areas between our fences and the street; need to trim and open up trees and shrubbery, move garbage cans to the rear and only place them in front at time of pick-up. Think of the improvement if all did this!

Think of your home as probably the largest investment of a lifetime—give it a little interest, and it will earn you a lot of interest in time.

If some of our residents are physically or financially unable to do the improving, it might be a fine opportunity for family members, or future heirs to lend a hand. Let us be proud again!

We are grateful to BayTech for the marvelous improvement to their property.

WASTED FISH—Several local residents have been very upset this week after discovering a large quantity of dead mullets each morning on the landing at the American Legion pier in Bay St. Louis. This photo Tuesday morning of one pile of mullets on the landing, ranged from 10 to 12 inches in length. Before that some 75 others were thrown overboard by several good citizens who are interested in keeping the facility clean. Information we have received, report there are about three boats fishing at night returning before daylight. We know there are sports fishermen who would be happy to catch a dozen or so of mullets the size of those being wasted by careless commercial fishermen. If they are too small to sell, maybe they should consider giving them to some organization which could use the fish and not waste them. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

It will be parade time again in Waveland on Saturday.

It is hard to realize the Waveland Civic Association will be celebrating with their 25th annual St. Patrick's Day parade.

The parade, which is very popular in the city of Waveland, should begin to roll at noon at Waveland and Central avenues.

The parade will proceed to Coleman, Coleman to Beach Boulevard, Beach to Lafitte, Lafitte to Central, Central to Waveland Avenue.

It will be a day when the O'Ladners, O'Bourgeois, O'LaNasas, O'Longos, O'Zimmermans, O'Yarboroughs, O'Turcottes, O'Villeres, O'Jeffreys, O'Hubbards, O'Ruhers, O'Dornis, O'Fayards, and the names go on, will have a good time.

In addition to being the 25th St. Patrick's Day parade for Waveland, this is also the centennial year for the city, so the parade on Saturday should be the greatest ever.

We hope to see you at the parade on Saturday.

Tuesday's weather did not keep many loyal voters from casting ballots for the candidates of their choice.

The election was rather on a quiet note compared to others, yet those who took the time to vote should all be commended.

We did note the fact that not too many folks were running around campaigning for a specific candidate in the races.

This may have been because there were so many candidates in several of the races.

Political activities may pick up during the next couple of weeks with a Democratic and Republican run-off for the United States House of Representatives Fifth District nominees.

We are sure, come November things will surely change when there will only be the party nominees vying for the tops spots.

The improvements at the Hancock County Fairgrounds are really taking shape and should make many residents happy.

The installation of a new heating and air conditioning system is something which was badly needed, as well as the lowering of the ceilings, new lighting and painting.

The project for the paving of the parking area in the near future will also be greatly appreciated.

Not too many months ago, a pedestrian along the first four blocks of Main Street in Bay St. Louis had to be cautious of stumbling over broken concrete, tree roots, busted driveways and other objects.

It was dangerous walking even in the daylight hours.

The city recently replaced some gas lines and installed a very good sidewalk and new catch basins. It is now a nice walk down Main Street in Bay St. Louis.

REPORT TO MISSISSIPPIANS

INF TREATY SIGNALS HOPE FOR U.S.-SOVIET RELATIONS

In December of last year, President Reagan and General Secretary Gorbachev signed an agreement to eliminate an entire class of nuclear weapons. This treaty, currently under consideration by the U.S. Senate, is a significant achievement for our country in our relationship with the Soviet government.

Certainly, this step in better relations with the Soviets signals hope for the future. While I continue to believe that the greatest deterrence to war is a strong defense, this move toward the reduction of nuclear forces can only be seen as a positive step.

The treaty, the first in history, to actually call for destruction of existing weapons, would eliminate 2,611 long-range and short-range intermediate nuclear missiles - 859 from the United States and 1,752 from the Soviet Union. The missiles, which represent only four percent of the two countries' nuclear weapons, are located in Britain, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, West Germany, East Germany and Czechoslovakia.

Verification measures within the treaty allow short-notice inspections at up to 130 INF sites for 13 years, in addition to inspections at missile factories in both the U.S. and the Soviet Union. Under the terms of the agreement, missile destruction must occur within three years of the treaty taking effect.

The INF treaty is now being studied by the Senate in anticipation of ratification. This ratification process, established in our Constitution, is one of the most important duties of the Senate. It is a serious process - one that is not taken lightly.

Both the Foreign Relations and the Armed Services Committees are conducting hearings on the agreement. They are considering every aspect of the treaty in detail and there is strong hope that the agreement can be ratified.

As part of the consideration of the treaty, much attention has been given to the verification measures it details.

Certainly, we cannot base our transactions with the Soviet Union on trust. Therefore, it is vital that we be certain that compliance with the treaty terms can be verified. By all reports, our negotiating team that developed this agreement are confident that the treaty's terms will assure this compliance.

Despite this move toward the reduction of weapons, we cannot relax in our efforts to ensure a strong defense for our country. We must continue to insist that our military forces are the strongest and best equipped. We must be able to respond to any situation.

It is unfortunate that maintaining this strong defense requires so much of our nation's financial resources. However, that cannot deter us. We must maintain a strong military if we are to ensure our continued freedom.

So we take encouragement from the INF treaty, but we recognize that it is no solution to our on-going problems in our relations with the Soviets. There must be no relaxing of the guard; we must continue to pursue a policy of strength as we work to protect our freedom and liberty for the generations of Americans to come.

NATO Summit Trip

By Ronald Reagan

Recently, I returned from Brussels, Belgium, where I met with the leaders of the North Atlantic Alliance. I'm glad to say that the Western Alliance remains a strong and unified guardian of the free world, ready to meet the many challenges before us. In all my meetings with allied leaders there was a unity of purpose and resolve that I found heartening and uplifting.

That strength and unity have never been more sorely tested, or better proven, than in the events leading up to, and making possible, the recent signing of our historic treaty with the Soviet Union to eliminate an entire class of U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons. Let me, if I may, review those events, because they provide a lesson that was much on my mind in Brussels, a valuable lesson about the only effective way to deal with the Soviet Union—from a position of strength.

INF refers to intermediate-range nuclear forces. They only became an issue in the seventies and early eighties when the Soviets began targeting their new SS-20 missiles against every major city in Western Europe, and our friends in Asia as well. The free nations had no comparable weapon to counter this new threat. So NATO agreed on what we called a dual-track policy—we would negotiate with the Soviets to get them to remove their missiles or to reduce them to the lowest possible equal level, and we would also deploy our own forces to counter their new threat.

The Soviets tried every play in the book to keep NATO from deploying these weapons. They stalled; they threatened; finally, they walked out of the negotiations in Geneva when we did begin deploying. The political pressure brought to bear on Western Europe was immense. Many said our Allies could not take it, that they would cave in. Demonstrations erupted in many of the capital cities in Europe, and the demonstrators' line was very similar to the Soviets': "No NATO deployments." In the United States, the so-called "nuclear freeze movement" gained strength. If those demonstrators had gotten their way, there would be no INF treaty. There would be no agreement with the Soviet Union to reduce—for the first time in history—nuclear armaments. The Soviet SS-20s would still be in place, threatening the populations of Western Europe and Asia.

The lesson learned? One must always negotiate with the Soviets from a position of strength. At this NATO meeting, we talked with our Allies about ways to apply this lesson. After the removal of the Soviet intermediate-range missile threat, our highest priorities are: first, to negotiate a 50-percent reduction in strategic arms; second, to address the fact that the Warsaw Pact conventional forces, arrayed offensively along the Iron Curtain, far outnumber NATO's and, third, to address the problems created by the continued Soviet maintenance of the world's largest chemical weapons arsenal.

That is why continued modernization of NATO forces—nuclear and conventional—is essential. Most of you have heard of SDI—our Strategic Defense Initiative that may one day make ballistic missiles obsolete. At the same time, we must continue to pursue NATO's conventional defense initiative to develop high-tech conventional weapons that may be an important part of the answer to the Soviets' aggressive strategy on the European Continent.

These issues were on our agenda in Brussels. We resolved there to press for large, asymmetrical reductions to Warsaw Pact conventional forces, for example, tanks and artillery. General Secretary Gorbachev talks at home about perestroika—that is Russian for "restructuring." Well it is time for some restructuring in the Warsaw Pact. It is time for the abandonment of the Soviet offensive strategy on the Continent.

We must never forget that arms reduction is not enough. Armaments are only the symptom, not the cause, of a much deeper division between free societies and the unfree. That division is at its heart a moral division. Perhaps it is best symbolized by the Berlin Wall and the horrible barrier that cuts down the center of Europe dividing nations, peoples and families. The question must be asked, when can we ever hope to achieve a real and lasting peace with a regime that is so fearful of its own people that it must imprison them behind barbed wire? That is why, when I visited the Berlin Wall last year, I issued a challenge to Mr. Gorbachev: If you really want glasnost, if you really want openness, tear down that wall.

I found in Brussels that the Atlantic Alliance has demonstrated now for 40 years, that a peace built on strength can and will endure; and I am convinced after our meeting, that the Alliance of free nations has never been stronger.

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—Gov. Ray Mabus may be the luckiest governor to ever deal with that traditionally hard-to-move object, the Mississippi Legislature.

When Mabus won the governor's office last fall after campaigning on a pledge to raise school teachers' salaries to the Southeastern average without a tax increase, fiscally knowledgeable lawmakers laughed up their sleeves.

There was no way to carve anywhere near $110 million (the low side figure) to $160 million (the high side figure) out of existing state revenues to pay the tab for teachers and also fund some other things Mabus wanted.

So when lawmakers came to the statehouse in January they were set to knock large chunks of money out of Mabus' teacher proposal, or force his hand on raising taxes to fully fund his program.

Then along comes a $145 million bonanza in state revenue collections that nobody anticipated last year in view of the way the state's economy had been dragging for the past four or five years.

With that $145 million windfall, the Mabus teacher pay plan was suddenly in business. It appeared last week that the ambitious young governor now could wind up getting practically everything he asked for.

The teacher pay bill which gained headway in the House Appropriations and Education committees last week would give teachers $3,000 of the $3,700 raise Mabus proposed for the 1988-89 school year, and assure them of the full $3,700 in 1989-90.

This would not quite be enough to put Mississippi teachers at the Southeastern average the next school year because the regional average continues to increase each year at a rate of 6 per cent. But it will give Mississippi teachers comparable pay to surrounding states.

What happened in the state's economy beginning the last five months of 1987 that started producing substantially more tax revenues than expected is still not clear to state revenue analysts. Evidently, the recovery which had begun nationally three years ago finally reached Mississippi.

In any case, the state has begun to show growth not only in sales tax receipts, the key barometer in the Mississippi economy, but also in individual and corporate income taxes, and several other revenue sources.

Rep. Tom Walman of McComb, the House Ways and Means Committee chairman, one of those who had been skeptical of funding the teacher pay increases on existing revenues, said Mabus was a "lucky man" that the revenue picture had improved substantially.

"If we hadn't had an upturn in revenues, we couldn't have come close to the political promises he (Mabus) made," Walman declared. "We didn't want to say out of hand that we couldn't do it, but without these additional revenues nobody would be cooperating as they are now."

Supervisors accept $412,578 bid for box culvert replacement

BY DENA BISNETTE
Four damaged box culverts along Beach Road are scheduled for replacement. On Monday, acting on the advice of Hancock County Engineer Larry Seal, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors accepted a bid of $412,578 from J.H. Moon Construction of Ridgeland. According to Seal, the only box culvert in the project north of US-90 is the one by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Although it needs replacement, it is not as severely damaged as the other three. The culvert was found not to be the cause of flooding on the Cedar Point area during heavy rains last week. Seal said that flooding was found to have been caused by the collapse of a section of seawall that crushed two drainage pipes. The other three, located at Grand Bayou, Sand Bayou and Clermont Harbor, are all "on the verge of collapse," the engineer said. The replacement cost of the concrete, steel-reinforced box culverts is more than Seal's original estimate, but the engineer explained that the higher cost is due to the fact that the water passing through the culverts can not be diverted during the project. The box culvert replacements are among the first major steps in the board's work toward one of the eight goals announced by Board President Ronald Cuevas in January, the establishment of a comprehensive repair and maintenance program for Beach Road and the county's two shore protection devices, the sand beach and the seawall. The board also discussed an ongoing project in Hancock County Wastewater District No.1. According to attorney Nicholas Haas, who represented the district at Monday's meeting, the $5 million construction of the county's first publicly owned sewerage district in the unincorporated territory is scheduled to begin in June. Leaving room for expansion of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department's station on Chapman Road as well as for a proposed soccer field, the district would like to lease some of the old airport property there for an administration building, Haas said. The site is centrally located in the district, which takes up part of Beat Five and a small section of Beat Four. When Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner asked why the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District could not be asked to provide space in its administration building, Haas said the regional district is only under contract for construction, financed mostly with grant funds, and for sewage treatment. He said the contractor will have to be on-site for about 18 months and some arrangement where the contractor constructs a building and later turns it over to the district could be considered. Haas and Board Attorney Gerald Gex, along with Hancock County Fair Commission Vice-President Larry Koennen, have been asked to look into the matter. Koennen is involved because the old airport property backs up to the fairgrounds and he appeared before the supervisors Monday with the request that he be given time to discuss the proposed building with the commission. The board meets again at 9 a.m. on March 15.

Ladner Pretense trial date changed

BY DENA BISNETTE
A trial for Hancock County Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, indicted in the Federal Bureau of Investigation's "Operation Pretense," has been delayed. According to Ladner's attorney, Lucien Gex, the new trial date is June 13. The trial had been scheduled for Monday. Gex said Federal Judge Tom Lee granted the delay at his request for additional time to prepare Ladner's case. Ladner was arrested Dec. 4 after being indicted on charges including mail fraud, extortion and bribery. His indictment states that he is accused of taking kickbacks of about $500 from Holman Equipment Company, $97 from Davis Chemicals and about $1,597 from companies or individuals that were not named in the indictment, all in exchange for arranging purchases of supplies and equipment. All of the incidents involved in the charges are alleged to have occurred between August 1984 and September 1986. Ladner was one of three Hancock County supervisors indicted and the only one of the three still in office. Former Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro, convicted in November, resigned in January as part of his sentence. Former Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca, also awaiting trial, had been voted out of office before being indicted.

Hancock Schools AIDS policy delayed, building progress reported

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has delayed action on formulating a policy regarding students with AIDS.

The delay was in response to a request by the Mississippi School Board Association.

Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph said Monday that the association plans to provide a statewide policy.

The association has asked that local districts which do not already have an AIDS policy wait and adopt the statewide policy rather than having inconsistencies in the policies adopted by individual districts.

The need for a policy was discussed at a previous board meeting and two films on the syndrome were screened, with one later being shown to students, Randolph said.

However, he and the board agreed that any local policy set now would have to be amended whenever the statewide policy is completed.

The superintendent explained that legislative action regarding AIDS policies for schools and other public entities is expected during the current legislative session, which is scheduled to continue through May 8.

"The school board association really can't do anything about a statewide policy until they see what the legislature is going to do," Randolph said.

In other business, the board heard a report from Architect Bill Tompkins, who is handling the district's building program.

According to Tompkins, a preliminary final inspection of new construction at Gulfview Elementary School was scheduled Tuesday and the contractor is expected to be finished with all work at the site by next Friday.

The board agreed to advertise for bids for four heaters that are needed for the Gulfview gymnasium, which will complete renovations at that school. The bids will be opened on April 4.

At Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton, all the roof repair work is done but some rain gutters, canopies and drainpipes still need to be replaced.

Work on the two new classrooms and two sets of restrooms that are planned will have to be done when classes are not in session because the heating, ventilation and air conditioning system for the new rooms will affect other rooms as well.

Bids on that work will be taken in April.

In addition, some changes are being made in plans for a new high school-junior high school complex at Stennis Airpark that will reduce utility cost, the architect added.

Tompkins said he would provide the board with a model of the proposed structure as soon as interior plans are finalized.

Blueberry growers to yield big

Mississippi is expected to produce almost 3 million pounds of blueberries, and growers should reach that mark if normal weather continues.

"If we have a normal year, we ought to have a real good crop," said John Braswell, area horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Some of the blueberry bushes have already started blooming."

If projections can be met, the crop should be valued at $2.21 million (based on a selling price of 75 cents a pound).

After enjoying a normal winter, growers are busily preparing for spring by applying preemergence herbicides to kill weed seeds. "We won't have to battle weeds all season if we do this," Braswell said.

Mississippi blueberry bushes bloom from early to late March, and aren't in danger of cold damage because the period of normally cold weather is over.

"A cold snap right now wouldn't do much damage," Braswell said.

"Blueberry plants at the bloom stage can take 28 degrees F. At the dormant stage, they can take as low as 14 degrees."

Producers had an unusually warm February last year, and the mild temperatures caused the crop to bloom and set berries in March. An unexpected freeze in early April severely damaged the crop in north Mississippi and parts of the crop in other areas of the state.

Most of the commercial blueberry acreage is in the southeastern corner of the state, but a successful marketing effort by the blueberry industry will allow other areas to catch up. Pearl River County is Mississippi's number 1 blueberry producer, having 171 commercial acres.

Forrest County is number 2, with 55 commercial acres.

In other agricultural news, farmers in dry areas of the state are back in the fields while those who have had heavy rain must wait for fields to dry.

"Row crop producers are presently doing limited tillage as weather permits," said Tim Pepper, Yazoo County agent.

Farmers in Alcorn County have not prepared their seed beds because of wet ground. "The rain we had Wednesday put a halt to all field activities for this week," said county agent Robert Wolfe.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor

PRESCRIBED BURNING

All fires in a natural environment do some damage, whether they are accidental or intentional. Many of you with timberland are having to deliberately set fires—but hold on, readers. It's all for a good cause in Hancock County.

Prescribed burning is the use of fire under specified and controlled conditions. It is a practice that provides timber owners and forest managers with an effective and economical means of performing many necessary management tasks. Properly planned and executed by professional foresters, prescribed burning accomplishes these objectives at reasonable cost and with minimum damage to the forest.

Air pollution control regulations must be observed during all burning. You need to obtain a burning permit from the Mississippi Forestry Commission. Check with the MFC dispatching tower nearest you or the county forester's office.

EASTER PARTY

Mar. 31 at 12:30 p.m. in our cafeteria we will have a fun party. Come in your Easter bonnet (men and women) and we will have prizes for the most original, prettiest and the funniest. I caught the tag end of a newscast this morning, to learn that there's a record crop of almonds these days out California way—I think that the newscast said something or other about 240 million pounds, but, as I wasn't quite awake, I'm not sure about the figures—but I know that there are a lot of almonds around!

At any rate, it's a record crop—and that's good news to almond lovers such as I—for I use almonds in a variety of dishes from time to time.

A few suggestions—green beans have added taste and texture when you add sautéed, sliced almonds, so do various chicken and fish dishes. Then there's almond custard, almond cookies—and that famed sweet, marzipan, made with almond paste.

There's rice pilaf with almonds, also. And, one of my very, very favorite treats is burnt almond ice cream. I made this quite by accident one day. I had absentmindedly left a carton of vanilla custard ice cream on the kitchen counter when putting away my purchases after a trip to the market—and by the time I remembered it, the ice cream was rather on the melted side.

I had planned to toast some sliced almonds for a trout amandine for dinner, so I just did some more almonds, and mixed them into the ice cream, and popped it into the freezer. Delicious!

Here's a quicker than quick Sauce Amandine, delicious on fillets of fish, or whole fish or soft shell crabs or chicken breasts or vegetables such as broccoli and asparagus, in addition to green beans:

Saute a quarter cup of blanched, sliced almonds in half a cup of butter or margarine, over low heat, until golden brown, stirring the while. Stir in a tablespoon of fresh lemon juice. (This makes three-fourths of a cup of sauce.)

And, for a bit of a change from the traditional Trout Amandine, with its buttery-almond sauce, try:

TROUT (OR CATFISH) AND ALMONDS AND CREAM
4 fish fillets
2/3 cup butter or margarine
Flour for dusting fillets
1/2 cup toasted sliced almonds
Pepper, salt to taste
1 thinly sliced lemon

Dry fillets, roll lightly in flour. Melt the butter in a skillet, and when hot but not brown, saute the trout over low heat for five to seven minutes.

Turn carefully, and cook the other side for the same length of time. When golden brown, season, and place on heated platter while you make the sauce. Add the cream to the butter left in the pan, mixing rapidly, then add the almonds, stirring carefully. Heat again to just below the boiling point or just at the point—but do not boil.

Spoon the sauce over the trout, and top with lemon slices. (Four servings)

Julie Mabus to be keynote speaker at NSTL Women's History Month program

Julie Mabus, Mississippi's first lady, will be the keynote speaker March 11 for the Women's History Month salute at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

Mrs. Mabus will speak in the Visitors Center auditorium at 1 p.m. All NSTL employees and the public are invited to attend the one-hour program.

During her speech, Mrs. Mabus will highlight her plans and goals to combat adult illiteracy, improve prenatal and neonatal care and to promote quality day care.

A native of Jackson, the first lady earned a bachelor of arts degree in mathematics at the University of Mississippi in 1974. She graduated from Columbia University with a masters in business administration in 1979 and qualified as a certified public accountant in 1983.

In addition to teaching math, banking and finance, Mrs. Mabus has worked for a number of major financial firms. Most recently, she has been an independent tax and financial consultant.

She has been active in a number of civic and social organizations, including working with the children's Oncology and Hematology Unit at University Hospital, the Heart Association, Opera South and New Stage Theater.

She was married to Ray Mabus on Jan. 3, 1967.

The NSTL Women's History Month observance is sponsored by the Federal Women's Program Managers' Council, which is made up of representatives from all of NSTL's federal agencies.

The national theme of the 1988 Women's History Month is "Reclaiming the Past, Inventing the Future."

Flim-flam operators working in Bay area

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis authorities are asking the cooperation of local store clerks in catching suspects operating a money scam in the area.

According to Bay St. Louis Police Detective Chuck James, the people involved in the scam usually have been described as two black males and also as a black male and a black female, traveling in a dark colored car.

James said they operate by making a purchase, then asking for change from the clerk and feeding bills back so fast that they confuse the clerk and get more than the correct amount of change.

He said cashiers need to push the money back at these people and tell them "one transaction at a time."

"Usually they will get mad and leave, but if someone can keep them busy long enough to get another person to contact the police, we'd like to pick them up," he added.

He said the two had hit five or six stores and fast-food restaurants in the Bay St. Louis area in the last month. Their targets are apparently businesses with a high customer load where the cashiers are already rushed.

Authorities need a more accurate description of the suspects and vehicle tag numbers if possible and all local business cashiers are asked to cooperate, James stated.

Car break-ins, thefts remain under investigation

BY DENA BISNETTE

Bay St. Louis authorities are searching for suspects, possibly juveniles, who stole one vehicle Sunday from the Highland Drive area and broke into several others.

According to Chuck James, a Bay St. Louis Police Department investigator, the stolen vehicle, a 1985 Lincoln towncar, was taken from a Highland Drive residence early Sunday morning and was later found abandoned in Shoreline Park.

The car had been run off the road and the engine compartment was under water, with some water backing up into the vehicle itself.

The odometer indicated that the car had been driven about 10 miles, James added.

Several other cars in the same area had been broken into and the contents had been sorted through, although nothing was taken.

Cream may reverse signs of aging

Retin-A, marketed and approved as a cream for treatment of acne, has been found to reverse some of the signs of aging if used topically.

Dr. Elizabeth I. McBurney, M.D., FACP, will address the merits of this alleged "fountain of youth" Tuesday at noon in "Retin-A: Facts and Fallacies."

The program is being presented free of charge by the Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center Regional Women's Center and will be held in the Resource Suite on the second floor of the Women's Center at SMH.

Dr. McBurney is a nationally recognized expert in dermatology and laser surgery. She was associate head of dermatology at the Ochsner Clinic before opening her private practice in Slidell in 1982.

Her work has been featured by CNN (Cable News Network), Paul Harvey, Self Magazine, Redbook, McCall's, Women's Day, USA Today, and in numerous scientific periodicals and books. She was also honored as one of the "Women in the Mainstream" in the New Orleans World's Fair Pavilion.

Elected a fellow of the American College of Physicians, she is board certified in both dermatology and internal medicine and is active in numerous civic and artistic community organizations.

Dr. McBurney holds clinical professorships at LSU and Tulane Medical Schools, chaired the first national meeting on the dermatologic use of lasers in 1982, and is currently serving as president of the St. Tammany Parish Medical Association.

Dr. McBurney was also instrumental in the establishment of a full medical library at Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center, ultimately benefiting the entire North Lake community.

Senators Cy Hart Rosenblatt and Irb Benjamin have proposed a means of providing math and science instruction to students whose schools are unable to provide the courses.

Benjamin, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, and Rosenblatt, vice chairman, have filed a bill in the State Senate to establish an interactive video computer pilot program for advanced math and science instruction.

"This pilot program would offer specific advanced courses in math or science such as physics to students in Grades 7-12 in those areas or school district which do not offer these courses due to teacher shortages, lack of funds or other circumstances," explained Rosenblatt, a second term Senator from Jackson.

"The instruction must be designed to be sufficient to enable the participating students to receive course credit following proper testing and evaluation," said Benjamin, a Rensselaer Senator serving his ninth year in the Legislature.

The senators said that each local school district in the state would be eligible to apply for the pilot program, which would be administered by the State Department of Education.

The local school district and/or the State Department of Education may apply for and accept financial assistance of any type from any governmental entity or any contribution, donation, gift or bequest from any source to implement or maintain the program.

"I think that this proposal gives our smaller schools a viable means of providing the educational opportunities which are available to students in the larger schools. No student should be penalized in the education available to him just because of where he lives," Rosenblatt said. "It is my hope that we can get citizens, civic organizations and businesses interested in this program and help provide funding."

"This type of instruction has been very successful with the adult literacy program and we look forward to its success in the school systems," Benjamin said.

District Trooper award winner named

GULFPORT—Staff Sergeant Hershel O. Ladner of Long Beach has been selected "Trooper of the Year" by his fellow troopers in the six-county Troop K (Gulfport District) of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Ladner's selection is part of the trooper of the year program sponsored annually by the Mississippi District Exchange Clubs as a tribute to state troopers.

The trooper of the year program, which began in 1981, is designed to recognize outstanding troopers for the professionalism they exhibit while performing their duties.

Ladner, 39, will be honored during a noon luncheon at the Holiday Inn in Gulfport on Tuesday, Feb. 23, hosted by the Gulfport Exchange Club.

Ladner is one of 11 troopers representing each of the nine Highway Patrol enforcement troop areas and the driver services and criminal investigation bureaus as troopers of the year. One of the 11 will be named statewide "Trooper of the Year" during a banquet on Friday, March 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn North in Jackson, sponsored by the Exchange Clubs of Mississippi in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety.

"Sgt. Ladner has increased the respectability of the Highway Patrol in his professional dealings as an expert accident reconstructionist," stated Capt. Richard Smith, Troop K commander.

"He is a professional in his presentations before the various levels of the court system as an expert reconstructionist and in his willingness to offer his assistance in a training capacity," he added.

In his 15 years of service, Ladner has served as an enforcement trooper in the Bay St. Louis and Gulfport areas. He represents Troop K in the Mississippi Highway Patrol Benefit Association, Highway Patrol Federal Credit Union, and the Troopers' Retirement Board.

Ladner was graduated from Gulfport High School and earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Mississippi. Since his commission, Ladner has received extensive, specialized training in accident reconstruction and is classified as an expert witness in local, county, state and federal courts.

He also received training as a police radar instructor from the Institute of Police Technology and Management, University of North Florida. Ladner is certified as an instructor in both areas and teaches at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy, Pearl, the Jackson Police Academy, and the Harrison County Law Enforcement Academy, Long Beach.

Ladner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Ladner of Gulfport and is married to the former Mary Hoagland, daughter of Mr. Jon Hoagland of Templeton, Calif. Ladner and his wife are the parents of Catherine Anne and Phillip Andrew.

KNS Theatre schedules auditions for fundraiser

The newly formed Kinetic Neo-Scene (KNS) Theatre will hold auditions for its pre-season fundraiser on March 12 from 3-5 p.m. upstairs at Mississippi Music's new building at 4620 Pass Road in Gulfport.

"The Jule Styne Musical Review," an original production collaborated by Garry Lamb, Sharon Lolacano and Kipard Fite, has roles for 15 to 20 singers and dancers. Singers should come with a song prepared, and should have either sheet music or a tape for accompaniment.

Styne collaborated with various lyricists to write the songs for shows such as Funny Girl, Gentlemen Prefer Blondes, Gypsy, High Button Shoes, Do, Re, Me; Bells Are Ringing, Sugar, and Hallelujah, Baby!

A few of his song hits are Diamonds Are a Girl's Best Friend, Everything's Coming Up Roses, People, The Party's Over, Don't Rain on My Parade, Never, Never Land; and Let It Snow.

The review will be produced at Gulfport High School Auditorium on Saturday, April 23. For information call Kipard Fite at 432-2920.

Spanish composers featured on 'Mississippi Concert Hall'

Mississippi musicians perform works by three Spanish composers on the next edition of PRM's "Mississippi Concert Hall," on Thursday, Mar. 10, at 9 a.m. and Sunday, Mar. 13, at 1 p.m.

The Jackson Symphony Orchestra String Quartet performs the Quartet Number 1 in d minor by Juan de Arriaga, which was recorded Nov. 7, 1987.

"Ritual Fire Dance" by Manuel de Falla is performed by pianist Bruce Livingston. Livingston, a native of Cleveland, currently resides in New York. This performance was recorded ed May 19, 1987, at the Larry Thompson Center for Fine Arts in Clarksdale.

Giovanni De Chiara, faculty guitarist at the University of Southern Mississippi, performs Sonatina by Frederico Moreno Torrova. This performance was recorded at a recital at Hinds Junior College in Raymond on Apr. 30, 1987.

"Mississippi Concert Hall" is produced by William Fulton.

Public Radio in Mississippi, a division of Mississippi ETV, is broadcast statewide and from Biloxi FM frequency 90.3.

Intelligent life may exist in space

HATTIESBURG—There is a good chance that intelligent life does exist in the dark reaches of space.

So far, however, earthlings have yet to prove it, an internationally known astronomer told a gathering at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Dr. Frank Drake—dean of natural sciences at the University of California at Santa Cruz and a pioneer in the search for extraterrestrial life forms—visited the USM campus Mar. 1 to talk to students and faculty members in the College of Science and Technology, and as a lecturer for the Honors College's University Forum lecture series.

"Anybody who has an up-to-date knowledge of the earth knows that there must be lots of life in the universe," Drake said, "and I think that everybody instinctively has that inkling, at some time in their childhood."

A graduate of Cornell and Harvard universities, Drake said that although no concrete proof exists to back up his belief in extraterrestrials, much circumstantial evidence does.

Many scientific studies indicate that other planetary systems should contain intelligent life, he maintained, saying he expects extraterrestrial intelligence may be discovered by the year 2000.

Drake began his search for signs of life in space with project "OZMA" in 1960 at the then newly created National Radio Astronomy Observatory in West Virginia.

Since OZMA, Drake has gone on to pioneer many important scientific endeavors—including the search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence (SETI) program at the Arecibo Observatory and the discovery of Jupiter's radiation belts.

Drake's early work dealt with building the world's largest radio telescope to "listen" for intelligent signals coming from deep space.

"These radio telescopes tell us where they (radio signals) are, and it may be possible for us to extract good information from those signals," the noted scientist said.

Drake said contact with extraterrestrial civilizations is important because of the possible benefits that could be gained by such communications.

"We could learn certain facts about science and technology that otherwise might take hundreds of years to work out here on earth," he said. "We might find out how to generate energy efficiently from nuclear fusion, or if they (extraterrestrials) have achieved biological immortality."

In 1960, Drake began his search with a budget of $2,000. The proposed 1989 budget for such projects is an estimated $6 million, with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) committing some $2 million to the search.

Increases in funding also have led to the development of more sophisticated equipment to continue the search for "intelligent" signals from space, Drake said, including telescopes "10,000 times stronger" than earlier devices and audio channels that monitor some eight-million separate signals at one time.

USM's University Forum series will continue Mar. 22 when the lecture series features Dr. Sylvia Hewlett, author and noted feminist, who will discuss, "The Economic Status of Women in America: How Do We Compare With Women in Other Countries?"

On April 5, "banned" South African journalist Donald Woods will visit the campus to discuss, "Apartheid and the Tragedy of South Africa." Woods's book, Biko, is the real-life story that provided the basis of the new hit movie, "Cry Freedom."

All forum events are presented for the benefit of the university community and the general public, and are held at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays in Bennett Auditorium on the USM campus.

Bay resident's grandson wins bronze medal

Jesse A. Battey, grandson of Mrs. Jane Garcia Zanca of Bay St. Louis, won a bronze medal in the snow skiing race in the Vermont Special Olympics in February.

Jesse, age 19, currently resides in Vermont, and has trained weekly for the competition. He also holds a Special Olympics medal for gymnastics in the 1984 Georgia competition.

St. Stanislaus High School held its football awards dinner on Sunday, Feb. 28, in the school dining hall. The purpose of this dinner was to recognize the varsity and B-team football players, the managers and trainers, and the cheerleaders. Jerry Spell, athletic director, was the master of ceremonies and welcomed the students and their parents. Senior Stephen Cuevas gave the opening invocation.

Following the dinner Ken Lyons, varsity football coach, presented two-year senior plaques to the following students: Shane Harris, Ya-sin Shabazz, Charlie Beech, Jimmy Bradley, Albert Bolian, Stephen Cuevas, Noah Daspit, Ron Engel, Jerry Frackrell and Joe Gex.

Also, Chuck Lavinghouse, John Leyser, Paul Montjoy, Flint Orozco, Jorge Ponjuan, Andre Rollins, Shane Sigsworth, Felix Sternfels, Michael Switzer, Michael Vegas, and Freddie Wirstrom.

Larry Ramsey, assistant football coach, and Ken Lyons presented awards to the following lettermen:

Gino Ascani, John Baxter, Bill Bradley, Jimmy Bradley, Vincent Bradley, Noah Daspit, Jerry Frackrell, Will Falcon, Shane Harris, Dean Kelly, Trace Koller, John Leyser, Paul Montjoy and Gary Pontieux.

Also, Shane Praetorius, Jimmy Reisch, Rocky Rhodes, Andre Rollins, Gerardo Rugarcia, Craig Sweeney, Jeff Battle, Charlie Beech, Albert Bolian, Robert Brown and Stephen Cuevas.

Hebert, Tommy Jennings, Paul Johnson, Johnny Labruzzo, Tony Lowe, Mario Mallini and Tony Mallini.

Ken Lyons presented plaques to the permanent team captains, Shane Harris and Ya-sin Shabazz. The Coaches Award was presented to Chuck Lavinghouse, and Ya-sin Shabazz earned the Mr. Rock-A-Chaw Award.

Brother Aquin Gauthier, cheerleader moderator, introduced the following varsity cheerleaders: Captains Jean Larroux and Jessica Deffes, Joe Sellers, Leigh Triche, Chris Schmidt, Julie Rutherford, Joe Lee, Anna Dean, Brent Dantin, Cynthia Martinolich, Ian Alcaen, Hayden Larroux, and Michael Casano. Shane Harris presented gifts to the cheerleaders on behalf of the football team.

Brother Paul Montero, principal, gave the closing benediction. He thanked the parents of the students for their support and encouragement, and he commended the coaches for their total dedication. He thanked in a special way Brother Pierre and his staff for the preparation of the awards dinner and Brother John Hotstream and the members of the Key Club for their help with the serving of the meal.

The basketball, soccer, baseball, golf, tennis, and track students will be honored at a future date.

Raiders close soccer season at 4-1

Coast Episcopal High School Raiders concluded their inaugural soccer season with a 5-0 victory over Chamberlain Hunt Academy of Port Gibson.

Sophomore Billy Guice scored two goals in the first half and an Scott Covode, Nathan Guice and Justin Taylor each contributed in the second half. Justin Taylor's was a header shot off a lob pass for Chris Riggs. Riggs finished with two assists.

Senior goalie Jose Da Silva, a Brazilian exchange student, exhibited outstanding defensive skills as well as sophomore goalie Hutson Lambert. Senior Todd Purcell again turned in a fine performance.

The Raiders closed their official season with a 4-1 record.

Youth to repeat Bay-to-Bay run for March of Dimes

Billy Holder, 11, will repeat his Bay to Bay Run for March of Dimes Mar. 20.

The run will start in front of the Hancock Bank in Bay St. Louis and follow US 90 for 31.1 miles to the Marine Education center in Biloxi, at the foot of the Ocean Springs Bridge.

Holder has run this course twice in the past. Both times, he has finished in a little under five and one-half hours.

This year, Holder invites other runners to bring donations or pledges for March of Dimes and run all or part of the course with him. The public is asked to send donations or pledges to March of Dimes for each mile he runs. In the past, Holder's Bay to Bay Run has generated over $1,000 for March of Dimes.

This is not a race, but a run, he notes. There are no trophies, no t-shirts, no prizes. All money raised goes directly to March of Dimes and is designated for use in Mississippi.

Police escort will be provided by the Harrison County Sheriff's Department.

NEW TENNIS PRO—Lis Lagarde of Bay St. Louis stands with Dennis Van der Meer, founder and director of the Tennis University at Hilton Head Island, N.C. Lagarde is now certified as a member of the United States Professional Tennis Registry.

Local pro receives rating

Lis Lagarde of Bay St. Louis has been certified as a member of the United States Professional Tennis Registry, an international association of more than 3,200 professional tennis teachers in 80 countries.

The USPTR was founded to certify tennis professionals through an internationally standardized method. Two comprehensive instructor's manuals were prepared for use in the testing and upon passing, the teacher is listed with the USPTR as a certified tennis instructor.

Lagarde completed an eight-day, 50-hour intensive tennis teachers training course held at the Van der Meer Tennis Center on Hilton Head Island, S.C. The course was instructed by Dennis Van der Meer, founder and director of the Tennis University. Over the past ten years, more than 8,000 tennis pros have taken the course in locations worldwide.

An all-day written and on-court examination was administered by the U.S. Professional Tennis Registry on teaching and playing skills to determine a certification rating with the USPTR. Lagarde received the professional rating. Lis is the tennis pro at Diamondhead Tennis World and a graduate of Southern Mississippi.

Weems, Artigues bang away

PERKINSTON—Jim Nightengale returned to his old stomping grounds this past Saturday afternoon, but he may not be welcomed back with open arms.

A few years back Nightengale was a star for the Gulf Coast baseball Bulldogs. He returned to his alma mater as head coach of the Pearl River College Wildcats.

And for the first time in two decades or so the PRC Wildcats swept a double header from Gulf Coast in Perkinston. The Wildcats won the first game 5-3 and then took the nightcap 12-3.

"We hung in there," Nightengale said. "We've got some guys who want to play. We don't try to get too high or too low. We try to play the same way every day."

Nightengale said he was probably more excited winning at Perk than the players. "It felt good," said Nightengale. "Of course, the season is just starting and we have to play Gulf Coast again."

Last week the Wildcats opened their home season with a sweep of the East Central Warriors in Poplarville. The two wins Saturday put the 'Cats with a 4-0 division mark and 5-1 overall ledger. Hinds was scheduled to visit the Wildcat diamond Tuesday.

"We have a lot of games left to play," said Nightengale, "but, what I

Bean farmer takes risk to open quail preserve

Bud Stevens exchanged one risk for another when he turned 500 acres of soybeans into Monroe County's first quail shooting preserve.

Some of the bean fields on his 1,700-acre farm were on highly erodible land, and to comply with conservation provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill, Stevens took 500 acres out of production last spring.

Wildlife specialists with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service had an idea for Stevens to mull over. Those 500 acres of prairie land, with their gentle rolling hills and natural plant cover, were perfectly suited to raising and hunting quail.

"What else can a person do with prairie soil if it is highly erodible?" asked Dr. Greg Yarrow, area wildlife specialist with Extension. "It can't be row cropped, it can't be grazed, it can't be used to make hay and it can't grow pine trees very well."

USM Fish Museum named to world publication

A 14-year-old fish museum at the University of Southern Mississippi has been added to the "Fish Museums of the World" publication.

With more than 120,842 specimens, the collection has almost outgrown its available space in the Walker Science Building, according to Biological Sciences Department Professor Dr. Stephen T. Ross.

Ross said the USM Museum of Ichthyology is like a library, with preserved specimens of fishes stored in alcohol and organized on shelves according to species, just as books might be arranged according to author.

"As long as the specimens are periodically checked for evaporation, they should last indefinitely," he said.

"The museum is used as both a teaching and research resource," Ross said, noting the holdings are primarily from freshwater and coastal marine areas of Mississippi. There are representative specimens from the Caribbean (primarily Belize), South America, Central America, the deep sea (mesopelagic realm) and the Eastern North Pacific.

Growth of the museum has been particularly rapid over the last several years, Ross said, attributing the fact to his gathering of materials for use in a book on the inland fishes of Mississippi.

The Conservation Reserve Program doesn't allow owners to use land taken out of row crop farming for other commercial production, and that includes haymaking and grazing. Such land can be set aside for wildlife habitats, and owners are allowed to lease hunting rights and make money.

Before erodible land can be converted into wildlife preserves, the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) must approve the plan as conservationally sound.

Stevens was convinced. While he still grows soybeans, he now operates "Prospect Farms," as a "put and take" operation. Quail and hunting facilities are supplied to hunters for a fee and the hunters get their quarry.

"I've never been a hunter, so it is challenging to put in a hunting reserve," Stevens said. "My wife Patsy and I wanted to do things right, so we talked with experts who made recommendations on ground cover, food for the quail and hunting facilities."

Those facilities include a rustic cabin, Swedish pointers, meals, a wagon pulled by a team of Percheron horses and a dressing and packaging service.

"Most people yearn for a good place to hunt quail," Yarrow said. "Farming from fencepost to fencepost has reduced the natural hunting habitats we had in the 1940s and 50s, so preserves like the one Bud Stevens created guarantee people a good place to hunt."

Opening a shooting preserve is not the answer for every farmer who wants to put his erodible cropland to use. Like beginning any new business, the owner must invest time and money. Stevens spent $28,000 alone for chemicals and fertilizer for the land cover.

But for Bud Stevens, the quail preserve fit the situation. "I don't believe you can beat this land," he said. "I have the best ground for raising quail and I'm doing all I can to make this business go."

Homeruns lift Rockachaws past Long Beach, 5-1

The St. Stanislaus Rockachaws used the timely hitting of William Scarborough, Joe Lee and Rocky Rhodes to roll to their second victory of the season in a 5-1 defeat of Long Beach Sunday afternoon in the Long Beach Tournament.

Catcher William Scarborough hit the first pitch of losing pitcher Matt Crosby of Long Beach over the left field fence to give the Rocks a 1-0 lead in the top of the second inning.

Cedric Smith's consistent pitching kept the Bearcats off stride, as Smith scattered six hits throughout the entire game while striking out eight batters.

The score remained 1-0 until the bottom of the fifth inning when second baseman Tim Hammons led off with a single, advanced to second, and scored on a close play at the plate when Crosby singled to center field. Greg Schruoff's relay throw was a split second late, and catcher Scarborough almost came up with the ball to put the tag on the runner.

St. Stanislaus came right back in the top of the sixth inning as rightfielder Joe Lee led off with a solid homerun shot over the left centerfield wall. Scott Heitzmann then grounded out, and Smith singled for his third hit of the game.

Gino Ascani went in to run for Smith, and promptly stole second. After Marc Matherne struck out, Long Beach decided to not take any chances with Scarborough at the plate, and issued him a walk.

Rocky Rhodes then came up and connected with a blast over the wall in left field, scoring Ascani and pinch-runner Robbie Bourgeois.

With two outs, the Rockachaw rally was not over, Yasin Shabazz doubled, and Greg Schruoff followed with a single, but Shane Sigsworth struck out to end the inning. Going into the bottom of the sixth, the Rocks led 5-1.

The Bearcats did not mount a serious threat in their last two at-bats. Smith did an effective job of mixing up his pitches. Long Beach sent up several pinch-hitters in the last inning who were kept off-stride by Smith's curveballs.

"It was a nice win for us," said Coach Gemelli. "You could tell that the Long Beach players really wanted to beat us. I'm proud of the way we hung tough. Several of our hitters who did not have a good game against Biloxi hit well for us against Long Beach."

"Cedric has thrown effectively for us. We were careful not to throw too many pitches. It was a nice early in the season for these guys to mean much to us. We cannot afford to have sore arms," said Gemelli.

"I think we have a fine pitching staff with Lloyd Nicaud and Matt Zant. These pitchers will definitely see action this week against Picayune and St. John."

SSC is scheduled to play Picayune Wednesday to conclude action in the Long Beach tournament. On Friday, St. Stanislaus hosts St. John at 3:30 p.m. at the SSC ballpark.

Bassin' with the pros

by Trey Foerster

Spring buzz bait

In the spring of the year, one of the deadliest bass fishing lures is a buzz bait.

Buzz baits are available in two basic categories: safety-pin type or in-line type. Examples for the former are the Clacker, Buzz King, Pistol Pete, Rocker Buzz, Weed Eater, Chatter Buzz, Pro Buzz 3, T's Shaker, and Paddle Whacker. Brands conforming to the latter type include the Hobo, Floyd's Buzzer, Sputter buzz, Lundahl Buzz Spoon, Musky Hawk, Herb's Dill, Skitter-Buzz, Uncle Buck's, and Sputter-fuss.

These lures feature either a double- or triple-winged propeller. The safety-pin type resembles a spinner bait while the other type resembles a standard spinner.

The buzz bait works half in and half out of the water and its blade or blades give off a gurgling sound on the surface. These lures are very deadly in shallows, murky waters and weedy flats. Some pros tip buzz-baits with plastic worms for additional action. The most favorite weights are between 1/4 and 5/8-ounce.

"I like to use a smaller buzz bait like the 1/8-ounce size or maybe a quarter-ounce," stresses Linda England, Johnson Outboards Pro

Staff member. "I like to use the smaller bait in the springtime because I don't feel that the fish are quite as active or stable as they are later on in the year. It seems that the smaller buzz baits draw them up better."

One benefit to using a buzz bait is the amount of area it can cover in a small amount of time. Some anglers use buzz baits to locate fish; then go in for the sure catch with a worm. This is because buzz baits are seen by many anglers as a low percentage lure for successful catches.

"One thing that many, many people do wrong in fishing buzz baits is that they miss a lot of strikes or lose a lot of fish," England said. "If they can slow that lure down, that's one thing that the fisherman has more control over than anything else to help him catch more fish."

"As with any top-water lure, it (buzz bait) goes across the surface," continues England. "The fish has to locate it, get a fix on it, plan his attack, and then come after it. A lot of times when you're running those baits real fast, the fish might not have a chance to get a good angle on it. I think that's why a lot of people miss strikes on them. The fish just doesn't have enough time to prepare itself if you slow that buzz bait down while still keeping it on the surface, you'll catch more fish."

One tip that several pros are eager to reveal is the use of trailer hook, sometimes called a stinger hook. This device rides in piggy-back fashion on the end hook and can be attached to that primary hook by an eyelet or a connecting tube. This trailer is used when fish tend to strike at the lure but regularly miss it. The trailer gives an added piece of insurance to the angler for success. It is important that these hooks are as sharp as possible to insure more catches.

"I usually put a trailer hook on with surgical tubing so it rides upright the same way that the main hook does," instructs Linda England.

As Linda England stressed, lure speed is a critical factor. You should reel in steadily enough to maintain the lure on the surface. Make sure those blades are lifting the lure, and for further lift try a double or twin blade model. The rod tip should be held high at 10 or 11 o'clock so the line will be on the surface and you can set the hook at a moment's notice. Hold the rod too high and you won't be able to effectively hook the fish.

There's a little secret I've used for tuning the blades on the buzz bait. Experiment a little in bending the blades while riding in a car—yes, I said a car! Stick the bait outside the window and see how easily the blades move and how fast. Try and get the blades to move fast with smooth action and your bait has been properly tuned!

Another trick some anglers use is to bend the blade so that it just minimally knocks the shaft, which adds a bit more noise to the lure. Make sure that you don't bend the blade to the point where it affects the spinning speed of the blade or the action of the lure.

Bay Area Youth Soccer

Bay Area Youth Soccer continues to play around the rains that are typical for this time of the year. Saturday's games were played in the mud, however, Sunday afternoon provided an excellent day for soccer.

Saturday, March 5

Under 12

In Under 12, The Burger King Whoppers lost to CPC Designers 4-2. Coach Leo Laurent stated that "the game was very exciting. The team has shown continuous improvement in their play. The forwards continued to hustle throughout the game and scored two goals."

Chris Green and Leo Laurent were congratulated on their first goals.

Take One Video continues to lead the Under 12 division undefeated. CPC Design Building now moves in to second place.

Under 10

The Coca Cola team remains in first place in the division, undefeated. McDonald Realty is second, and Gateway is in third place in the age division followed by the Kmart Rangers and the Coast Alarms team.

Under 8

In Under 8 play, the Golden Eagles moved into first place with this week's victory and Gulf Coast Sweepers are in second place.

The Rotary Club defeated the American Legion Wildcats by a score of 2-0. Halfback Jeremy Edwards scored the first goal for Rotary and forward Michael Flowers scored the second goal on a corner kick.

Coach Flowers congratulated the entire team for a good effort. Sweeper Jace Bourgeois was named most improved for the game. Coach Bob Mullens of the Wildcats named Steve Mauffrey for best offense, Jason Roche for best defense, and Rodney Ladner and Joshua Farve were named for most improved players for the game.

Under 10 Girls

Coach Jeff Dehenport's Magnolia Under 10 girls soccer team, sponsored by the Krøge of Magnolia, defeated the Ocean Springs Hurricanes by a score of 4-0. Goals were scored by Gwyn Krost and Rachael Perniciaro, and two goals were scored by Nicole Krost.

The great Magnolia defense was led by Kathryn Scaffidi that kept Ocean Springs scoreless. The halfbacks set up the plays that led to the goals made. The most improved player for the game was Ouida Parker.

The Bernard Construction team swept the weekend by defeating the Gulfport Golden Girls by a score of 2-0 and the Gulfport No. 2 girls team by a score of 5-1.

Coach Bernard Tusa of Bernard Construction congratulated the entire team for remaining undefeated on the Gulf Coast.

Under 14 Boys

The Bays Blast Under 14 boys team played a triple header on Sunday afternoon. In the first contest, the Blast team defeated the New Orleans PAC team by a score of 1-0.

In the second contest, the PAC team returned to defeat the Bays team by a score of 2-1. The final and most interesting game of the day was between the Bays Blast and the Under 14 Boys girls team. A fine effort was provided by the girls team, but Bays Blast went on to win 7-1.

The Bays Blast boys team behaved like gentlemen and are to be congratulated, however, the score did not lead to any dates for the boys with the Under 14 girls team.

* Bonds payable at October 1, 1985 does not include noncomponent unit $1,500,000 general obligation enterprise bonds and $42,240,000 revenue enterprise bonds. In prior years, these bonds were reported as Enterprise Funds in the proprietary fund type group. Revenue enterprise bonds are disclosed as no commitment debt in the "No Commitment Debt" note. General obligation enterprise bonds were reclassified to the General Long-term Debt Account Group, because they were actually general obligation bonds and had been misclassified as enterprise bonds in prior audits.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1986, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1987. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control of Hancock County, Mississippi, to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the U.S. General Accounting Office Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions. For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal accounting controls in the following categories:

ACCOUNTING CONTROLS:

Cash
Payroll
Revenues

Expenditures
Fixed Assets
Investments

The purpose of our study and evaluation was to determine the nature, timing, and extent of the auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the county's financial statements. Our study and evaluation was more limited than would be necessary to express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control taken as a whole or on any of the categories of controls identified above.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures. The objectives of a system are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of inherent limitations in any system of internal accounting control, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the system to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation made for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph would not necessarily disclose all material weaknesses in the system. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control of Hancock County, Mississippi, taken as a whole or on any of the categories of controls identified in the first paragraph.

However, our study and evaluation disclosed the following conditions that we believe result in more than a relatively low risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, may occur and not be detected within a timely period.

Board of Supervisors:

1. Finding

The auditor's opinion is qualified as to fair presentation of the combined financial statements because the county does not maintain an accurate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Recommendation

We recommend the county ascertain the historical cost and maintain accurate inventory records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County is currently taking appropriate measures to determine the valuation of buildings and fixed assets for the fiscal year 1986-1987.

Chancery Clerk:

1. Finding

The bookkeeper is making the bank deposits and no one independent of the cash records reconciles the bank accounts and examines the outstanding lists.

Recommendation

We recommend that someone other than the bookkeeper deliver deposits to the bank, someone independent of the cash records reconcile the bank accounts and that someone other than the preparer examine the list of outstanding items.

Chancery Clerk's Response

The staff is inadequate to segregate all cash functions. Every effort is made to insure that all funds are handled correctly.

2. Finding

Cash was not reconciled properly by individual funds.

Recommendation

We recommend that cash be reconciled by fund with individual self-sustaining balances.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to insure that individual funds are properly reconciled.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Internal Accounting Control
September 21, 1987

Tax Assessor-Collector:

1. Finding

Checks are not identified on the deposit slip by name and amount.

Recommendation

We recommend that checks be identified on the deposit slip by name and amount.

Tax Assessor-Collector's Response

Checks are identified by parcel number or decal number on the reverse side. This coincides with the number listed on the deputy cash report. Machine tapes are attached to reports. Perhaps we can comply with the above recommendation if each deputy makes his own deposit slip. We will do our best to comply.

These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the audit tests to be applied in our examination of the 1986 financial statements, and this report does not affect our report on the financial statements dated September 21, 1987.

This report is intended solely for the use of management and should not be used for any other purpose. This restriction is not intended to limit the distribution of this report which is a matter of public record.

State tax refunds accepted by wildlife fund

Mississippians can do something with their state tax refunds again this year.

Last year, about 5,600 taxpayers gave almost $41,000 for wildlife by contributing all or part of their state income tax refunds to the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Fund.

That money, combined with the $1,000 collected in 1986, is being used to fund research, produce educational materials and sponsor special management projects on endangered species, other nongame wildlife and rare plants.

Bald eagles and injured birds of prey are benefitting from the generosity of donating taxpayers, as are cave salamanders and gopher frogs. Tapes and books on Mississippi birds, amphibians and reptiles are also being produced with refund contributions.

Taxpayers gave an average of $7.14 to the Wildlife Heritage Fund in 1987, well above the national average of $5.96 donated to similar programs in 32 other states. However, less than two percent of eligible Mississippians contributed.

Persons who receive a state refund and wish to donate to the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Fund should look for line 24 on their state tax form and write in the amount they want to contribute.

Taxpayers who want to donate to the Fund even though they did not receive a refund can send a check directly to the Mississippi Wildlife Heritage Fund at the Department of Wildlife Conservation, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205.

Advice from heart transplant patient: Slow down-enjoy life

On January 20, 1986, Mississippi native Edward Leggins, 54, became the first black person in Louisiana to have a new heart implanted into his chest.

If he was going to die, he wanted to die fighting to live, he said.

His decision, however, did not sit too well with his family. His wife said he was crazy. His grown children tried to talk him out of it, saying he would die on the operating table.

Leggins ignored their arguments, choosing instead to go to Ochsner Foundation Hospital for the transplant. A new heart, he said, would make him feel as "solid as concrete" again.

He waited 31 days for a donor heart to become available, then the phone rang. At the distant end, an Ochsner transplant coordinator said: "We have one...get ready." At first Leggins felt faint, then relieved. "I've got to do it," he told his wife.

With no time to lose, he was rushed to the operating room and prepared for the procedure. In a matter of minutes, the Ochsner transplant team arrived from Lafayette, La., cradling a blue container that held the heart that would keep Leggins alive. Two hours later, it was over.

Dr. John Ochsner, the lead surgeon, said the transplant was a success.

In the hospital's intensive care unit, doctors and nurses monitored his progress minute by minute. The first 24 hours are the most crucial for any transplant patient. By day two, things were looking up.

They were able to remove special devices that aided his breathing. They also fed him liquid nourishment, a good sign that full recovery was around the corner. Each day passed with significant signs of improvement.

By day six, Leggins was in a private room, eating a regular diet and granting TV and newspaper interviews. Reporters asked thousands of questions.

How did he feel? What was it like? How did he feel having the heart of someone else? Needless to say, Leggins invited them in, one at a time, and talked about those things that concerned him most: survival and life.

"I had a lot to tell the world," he said. "I wasn't going to lay in bed and die. I told my family that I'd rather die on the operating table attempting a transplant. At least I tried."

The media followed every word and kept coming back in succeeding days for more interviews. For Leggins, it was an exciting moment and a confidence builder.

Yet, five months later, confidence turned into paranoia. "I got nervous and scared," he said. "I worried because I wasn't going to be the strong and busy man I used to be. The doctor said I'd have to slow the pace."

Leggins drove tractor-trailer trucks for almost 25 years before his heart started to give out. "I was either on the road or doing some chore around the house. I was never idle."

In order to keep his body from rejecting his new heart, Leggins must take special anti-rejection medication like clockwork and he must also follow a prescribed exercise program to stay alive.

His exercise program includes riding his bicycle 10 miles each day. When the weather is warm, he does the gardening and maintains three cars. One in particular, a '76 Chevrolet Caprice, is his favorite. "When I'm on the road with that one, traffic slows."

The pace may be slower for Edward Leggins, but he has learned to work it to his advantage. "Now, I've got time to do the things that I really enjoy. There's no rush here and rush there. I can take my time."

With the help of friends and family, Leggins will write a book about his new life. "I've got things to share with people," he said. "I want to tell them to slow down and enjoy life and not be bothered with those little things that won't mean a thing next week. I want to tell them to live the small moments to the fullest. If they don't, life just might slip away. Mine almost did."

The first time Leggins had a brush with death was when he was a boy in Mississippi. A black widow spider sneaked into his shoe and bit him. He was in a coma for days, but somehow pulled out of it.

His second experience came in 1985, the year his heart almost stopped beating. "I guess the Lord must be saving me for something good," he smiled with confidence.

OUTDOORS FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE HUMMINBIRD PROS

by Larry Colombo

Bass pro Jimmy Houston says, "It ain't necessarily the worm, but rather how you fish it that produces results."

With worm fishing season upon us, now is a good time to recommend more than one technique for fishing the fake plastic wiggler.

The popular "Texas Rig" rates highest among worm fishermen. A bullet shape slip sinker is allowed to slide up and down the line to a worm hook, tied directly to the end of the line. The hook point is buried into the worm making it virtually weedless.

A most effective worm method is called the "Carolina Rig". A slip sinker is placed on the line, a small barrel swivel is tied to the end, and another length of line is attached to the swivel, then the hook added to the end of the second line, one to two feet long. This is a great rig for fish suspended off the bottom.

One of the more popular and very productive new techniques for worm fishing is the "Do Nothin'" method. A one-ounce sinker is used with a swivel and three to four feet of leader line. A small two-hook plastic worm is tied to the end of the line. While this rig has a tendency to hang up, few strikes are missed due to the exposed hooks. This is a great method when the fish are feeding on relatively clean bottoms.

All fish and game activity are affected by moon phases. Reference to the solar tables will help determine those periods of the day when feeding will be most prevalent. Our pros suggest that you should always be in your most productive waters during the major feeding periods for best success.

Tips from the Humminbird Pros are presented by Humminbird, Eufaula, Alabama. Good Fishing with Humminbird, America's #1 Depth Sounder.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1986, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1987. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the internal control system, including applicable internal administrative controls, used in administering federal financial assistance programs to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the systems as required by generally accepted auditing standards, the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Processes, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, the Single Audit Act of 1984, and the provisions of OMB Circular A-128, Audits of State and Local Governments. For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal accounting and administrative controls used in administering federal financial assistance programs in the following categories:

ACCOUNTING CONTROLS:

Cash Receipts/Revenues
Cash Disbursements/Purchasing
Payroll

ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROLS:

General Requirements
Political Activity
Davis-Bacon Act
Civil Rights
Specific Requirements
Types of Services
Eligibility
Reporting

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control systems used in administering federal financial assistance programs. In fulfilling that responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures. The objectives of internal control systems used in administering federal financial assistance programs are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that, with respect to federal financial assistance programs, resource use is consistent with laws, regulations, and policies; resources are safeguarded against waste, loss and misuse; and reliable data are obtained, maintained and fairly disclosed in reports.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Internal Controls
Federal Financial Assistance Programs
September 21, 1987

Because of inherent limitations in any system of internal accounting and administrative controls used in administering federal financial assistance programs, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the system to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study included all of the applicable control categories listed above. During the year ended September 30, 1986, Hancock County, Mississippi, expended 93% of its total federal financial assistance under general revenue sharing, CFDA number 21.300, a major federal financial assistance program. With respect to internal control systems used in administering this major federal financial assistance program, our study and evaluation included considering the types of errors and irregularities that could occur, determining the internal control procedures that should prevent or detect such errors and irregularities, determining whether the necessary procedures are prescribed and are being followed satisfactorily, and evaluating any weaknesses.

We did not study and evaluate the internal control systems for the disaster assistance program grant, CFDA number 83.516, a nonmajor federal financial assistance program. This grant will be audited at a later date by the State Auditor's office in conjunction with the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency.

Our study and evaluation was more limited than would be necessary to express an opinion on the internal control systems used in administering the general revenue sharing federal financial assistance program of Hancock County, Mississippi. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the internal control systems used in administering this federal financial assistance program of Hancock County, Mississippi.

However, our study and evaluation and our examination disclosed the following conditions that we believe result in more than a relatively low risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material to a federal financial assistance program may occur, and not be detected within a timely period.

General Revenue Sharing

1. Finding

Payroll checks are distributed by an employee who has access to bookkeeping functions.

Recommendation

We recommend payroll checks be distributed by an employee independent of bookkeeping functions.

Response

The staff is inadequate to segregate all duties. Checks and balances are used wherever available.

2. Finding

Federal assistance programs provide that no person shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, or handicap, be excluded from participation in or be subjected to discrimination in any program or activity funded, in whole or part, by federal funds. During the audit year, Hancock County did not have an internal control system established to provide reasonable assurance that it is managing federal assistance programs in compliance with the civil rights requirement.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Internal Controls
Federal Financial Assistance Programs
September 21, 1987

Recommendation

We recommend that the county: develop, maintain, and display written policies prohibiting unlawful discrimination in employment; designate an employee who is independent of personnel functions as an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer to review nondiscriminatory policies and procedures and to investigate discrimination complaints; include in contracts for employment and services a clause prohibiting discrimination and have the board attorney review contracts to insure the inclusion of a clause prohibiting discrimination.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

3. Finding

OMB Circular A-102, Attachment H, requires that recipients of federal funds periodically file standard federal financial reports. The revenue sharing program requires certain financial and population data to be confirmed or provided to the Bureau of Census. During our audit year, Hancock County did not have adequate internal controls to insure timely filing of required reports and the required RS-9 report to be filed with the Bureau of Census was not filed for fiscal year 1984-1985.

Recommendation

We recommend that the county: develop and maintain written instructions indicating the time and manner in which reports are to be completed; maintain copies of reports filed, complete with authorized signature and date filed; develop a system to insure timely filing of reports; document how information on reports was obtained and arranged and file the required RS-9 report for the fiscal year 1984-1985.

Response

Appropriate controls will be put into use to insure proper and timely filing of required federal reports.

4. Finding

Recipients of revenue sharing funds must publicize an initial notice that it does not discriminate on the basis of handicap in employment, admission or access to, or treatment in its programs or activities. The notice should include the name of the employee who coordinates compliance with the handicap regulations. Also, continuing notifications of pertinent information are to be made to the public, including sight and hearing impaired individuals or groups representing such individuals. The county published the initial notice during September, 1987.

Recommendation

We recommend greater care be exercised by the county for federally required disclosures.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Internal Controls
Federal Financial Assistance Programs
September 21, 1987

5. Finding

Revenue sharing recipients must establish a grievance procedure available to all persons (except applicants for employment) for review of complaints alleging handicap discrimination. The county could not provide us with a grievance procedure of this type.

Recommendation

We recommend the county establish a grievance procedure as mentioned above.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

6. Finding

Revenue sharing recipients must complete a self-evaluation review of policies, practices, programs and activities to determine if they discriminate against the handicapped. Handicapped individuals and organizations representing the handicapped must be included in the self-evaluation process. Hancock County did not prepare a self-evaluation review.

Recommendation

We recommend a self-evaluation review be made.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of audit tests to be applied in (1) our examination of the 1986 component unit financial statements and (2) our examination and review of Hancock County's compliance with laws and regulations major federal financial assistance program. This report does not affect our report on the financial statements and on the county's compliance with laws and regulations dated September 21, 1987.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the cognizant agency and the distribution of federal financial assistance and should not be used for any other purpose. This restriction is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which upon acceptance by Hancock County, Mississippi, is a matter of public record.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1987, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1987. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for the county's compliance with laws and regulations. In connection with our examination referred to above, we selected and tested transactions and records to determine the county's compliance with laws and regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the component unit financial statements of the county.

The results of our tests indicate that for the items tested, Hancock County, Mississippi, complied with those provisions of laws and regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the component unit financial statements. Nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that for the items not tested Hancock County, Mississippi, was not in compliance with laws or regulations noncompliance with which could have a material effect on the county's component unit financial statements.

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have examined the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, for the year ended September 30, 1986, and have issued our report thereon dated September 21, 1987. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities and Functions, issued by the U.S. General Accounting Office, the Single Audit Act of 1984, and the provisions of the Circular A-128, Audits of State and Local Governments, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, is responsible for the county's compliance with laws and regulations. In connection with the examination referred to above, we selected and tested transactions and records from the general revenue sharing, CFDA number 21.300, major federal financial assistance program. The purpose of our testing of transactions and records from this federal financial assistance program was to obtain reasonable assurance that Hancock County, Mississippi, had, in all material respects, administered the major program in compliance with laws and regulations, including those pertaining to financial reports and claims for advances and reimbursements, noncompliance with which we believe could have a material effect on the allowability of program expenditures.

We did not select or test transactions and records for the disaster assistance program grant, CFDA number 83.516, a nonmajor federal financial assistance program. This grant will be audited at a later date by the State Auditor's office in conjunction with the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency.

Our testing of transactions and records selected from general revenue sharing, CFDA number 21.300, a major federal financial assistance program, disclosed instances of noncompliance with those laws and regulations. All instances of noncompliance that we found and the program to which they relate are identified in the accompanying schedule of findings.

In our opinion, the effects of the ultimate resolution of those instances of noncompliance referred to in the preceding paragraph will not have a material effect on the allowability of program expenditures. For the year ended September 30, 1986, Hancock County, Mississippi, administered its major federal financial assistance program in compliance, in all material respects, with laws and regulations, including those pertaining to financial reports and claims for advances and reimbursements, noncompliance with which we believe could have a material effect on the allowability of program expenditures.

Hancock County, Mississippi
Report on Compliance
Federal Financial Assistance Programs
September 21, 1987

General Revenue Sharing

1. Finding

Federal assistance programs provide that no person shall on the grounds of race, color, national origin, or handicap, be excluded from participation in or be subjected to discrimination in any program or activity funded, in whole or part, by federal funds. During the audit under review, Hancock County had no written policy; consequently displayed, prohibiting unlawful discrimination employment and services did not always include a clause prohibiting discrimination.

Recommendation

We recommend that the county: develop, maintain, and display written policies prohibiting unlawful discrimination in employment; designate an employee who is independent of personnel functions as an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer to review nondiscriminatory policies and procedures and to investigate discrimination complaints; include in contracts for employment and prohibiting discrimination and have the board attorney review contracts to insure the inclusion of a clause

Response

Hancock County is currently in the process of developing a written personnel policy.

2. Finding

The county is required to confirm or provide certain financial and population data to the Bureau of Census. The required report, the RS-9, was not filed for fiscal year 1984-1985.

Recommendation

We recommend the RS-9 be filed for fiscal year 1984-1985 and be filed in a timely manner in the future.

Response

We will comply with filing the required RS-9 report.

3. Finding

Recipients of revenue sharing funds must publicize an initial notice that it does not discriminate on the basis of handicap in employment, admission or access to, or treatment in its programs or activities. The notice should include the name of the employee who coordinates compliance with the handicap regulations. Also, continuing notifications of pertinent information are to be made to the public, including sight and hearing impaired individuals or groups representing such individuals. The county published the initial notice during September, 1987.

Recommendation

We recommend greater care be exercised by the county for federally required disclosures.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

Report on Compliance
Federal Financial Assistance Programs
September 21, 1987

4. Finding

Revenue sharing recipients must establish a grievance procedure available to all persons (except applicants for employment) for review of complaints alleging handicap discrimination. The county could not provide us with a grievance procedure of this type.

Recommendation

We recommend the county establish a grievance procedure as mentioned above.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

5. Finding

Revenue sharing recipients must complete a self-evaluation review of policies, practices, programs and activities to determine if they discriminate against the handicapped. Handicapped individuals and organizations representing the handicapped must be included in the self-evaluation process. Hancock County did not prepare a self-evaluation review.

Recommendation

We recommend a self-evaluation review be made.

Response

Hancock County is taking appropriate steps to be in compliance with the aforementioned requirements.

Consumer Update on tenants insurance

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer
Management Specialist

If you rent your home or apartment, you may be like many other consumers who assume that their personal belongings are insured against loss or damage by their landlord's insurance policy.

In the event of a loss, however, you could be upset to discover that your landlord has insurance to cover the structure but not your personal belongings.

You could also be held responsible for someone else's injury or damage while in your dwelling.

To eliminate this potential financial risk, consider purchasing a tenants insurance policy that combines insurance for your personal belongings and your liability to others.

Your personal belongings coverage insures your personal property whether it is in your home or elsewhere. A standard tenant's policy covers furniture, clothing and most other personal belongings for their actual cash value at the time of loss. These policies provide only limited coverage for furs, jewelry, silver and other specific valuables.

However, the most realistic coverage provides replacement cost of the items insured rather than cash value at time of loss.

Losses from numerous perils are covered and can be checked by reviewing the insurance contract or contacting your agent.

If your residence becomes damaged to the extent it cannot be occupied due to any of the perils covered by the policy, additional living expenses are also provided. Your policy will state limits on additional living expenses allowed while repairs are being made to your residence.

The liability coverage insures injuries or damages caused by you, a member of your family or even a pet at home or elsewhere. It includes the legal costs of defending you if you are sued.

To determine the amount of your insurance needs, inventory your household belongings.

The "Inventory of the Household" booklet, available free of charge from the Consumer Money Management Center at 388-4710, can aid you in taking your inventory.

Note prices, dates of purchase and provide photographs where possible for major personal belongings. You may choose to document your inventory by videotaping each room in your home.

Be sure to keep a copy of your inventory and photographs or videotape in a safe place away from the home.

When you are ready to purchase a policy, ask friends for recommendations on an agent or company from whom they have had good service.

You may wish to talk with several insurance representatives to compare costs, quality and recommend coverages before selecting the policy that is right for you.

KEYBOARD FESTIVALS—The 1988 Area Keyboard Festivals were conducted Jan. 29 at the First Baptist Church in Pascagoula sponsored by the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board Music Department. The two piano students from Hancock County who participated are Leanne Bennett, left and Yvonne Jones. Bennett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bennett of Diamondhead. She is in the seventh grade at Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis and is a member of the Diamondhead Baptist Church. Her selection for competition was "Just As I Am" of which she scored an excellent rating. Yvonne Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jones of Diamondhead. She is in the third grade at Diamondhead Academy and is a member of Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis. Her selection was "My Jesus I Love Thee" of which she scored a superior rating. Both are students of piano teacher Gloria Dupree, also of the Diamondhead Community.

Answer to Puzzle

Board of Supervisors

1. Finding

The auditor's opinion is qualified as to fair presentation of the combined financial statements because the county does not maintain an accurate inventory or adequate subsidiary records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Recommendation

We recommend the county ascertain the historical cost and maintain accurate inventory records documenting the valuation of general fixed assets.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County is currently taking appropriate measures to determine the valuation of buildings and fixed assets.

2. Finding

State law dictates what purposes county funds may be expended. On November 3, 1986, a board order approved the payment of payroll checks for the December 16, 1985 through December 31, 1985 payroll to be paid on December 15, 1986. We do not know of any authority that provides for making such advances to employees.

Recommendation

We recommend that the practice of making payroll advances be stopped.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County will discontinue this policy.

3. Finding

Section 19-11-7, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states the board of supervisors of each county shall, at its August meeting of each year, prepare a complete budget of revenues, expenses and a working cash balance estimated for the next fiscal year. Such budget containing said statement of revenues and expenses shall be published at least one time during August or September but not later than September 15th of said year in a newspaper published in the county. For the audited fiscal year, the publication for fiscal year 1985-1986 budget was not ordered until September 30, 1985 and was published on October 10, 1985.

Recommendation

We recommend that the board of supervisors comply with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 19-11-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), for fiscal year 1986-1987.

4. Finding

State law dictates what purposes county funds may be expended. Hancock County is making payments of $15 per day for a part-time sheriff's deputy to attend board meetings. We do not know of any authority for such expenditure.

Recommendation

We recommend that these payments not be made without statutory authority.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County will not continue this policy without statutory authority.

5. Finding

Section 31-7-13(c), Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that purchases which involve an expenditure of more than two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) may be made from the lowest and best bidder after advertising for competitive sealed bids once each week for two (2) consecutive weeks in a regular newspaper published in the county or municipality in which such agency or governing authority is located, and, further, that the date as published for the bid opening shall not be less than five (5) working days after the last published notice. The purchase requisition and the purchase order was issued prior to the bid opening date of a 1986 Oldsmobile for the sheriff's office.

Recommendation

We recommend that the county comply with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 31-7-13, Miss. Code Ann. (1972).

Hancock County, Mississippi
Management Report

6. Finding

Section 27-105-367, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that whenever the surplus monies in any special fund shall be two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or more, the board of supervisors or the governing authorities of the municipality, as the case may be, desiring to transfer such surplus monies shall cause notice of same to be published in some newspaper published in the county, district or municipality, as the case may be, for three (3) consecutive weeks. Thereafter, the monies shall be transferred as stated in the order not less than thirty (30) days after the first publication in a newspaper as above stated, unless, within said thirty (30) days, a petition against the proposed transfer, signed by twenty percent (20%) or fifteen hundred (1,500), whichever is less, of the qualified electors residing in the county, district or municipality, as the case may be, shall be filed with the governing body. For the audited fiscal year, interfund transfers were made that exceeded the two thousand five hundred dollar ($2,500) limitation without authorization in the board minutes or with the proper publication.

Recommendation

We recommend the board of supervisors comply with the aforementioned section.

Board of Supervisors' Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 27-105-367, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), for fiscal year 1986-1987.

Chancery Clerk

1. Finding

Section 19-3-27, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states that it shall be the duty of the clerk of the board of supervisors to keep and preserve a complete and accurate record of all the proceedings and orders of the board. During the audited fiscal year, some interfund loans and transfers were made without authorization in the minutes of the board of supervisors.

Recommendation

We recommend that all transactions be authorized in the minutes of the board.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 19-3-27, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), for fiscal year 1986-1987.

2. Finding

Section 19-13-43, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires no warrant be issued until funds are available. For the audited fiscal year, warrants were issued when funds were not available.

Recommendation

We recommend the chancery clerk comply with the aforementioned section.

Chancery Clerk's Response

Hancock County has taken appropriate measures to be in compliance with Section 19-13-43, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), for fiscal year 1987-1988.

Tax Assessor-Collector

1. Finding

The cash journal is not being prepared correctly because only collections and not settlements are being posted.

Recommendation

We recommend that settlements as well as collections be posted to the cash journal.

Tax Assessor-Collector's Response

This recommendation will be complied with immediately without reservation.

Circuit Clerk

1. Finding

For the fiscal year under review, the circuit clerk estimated court cost for appeals on indigent cases. The clerk would then submit a claim to the county for the estimated court cost and submit it with the appeal. If the advance payment was not enough, the Supreme Court would send a billing for the deficit amount. The circuit clerk would then write a check out of the criminal account, posting it to restitution while waiting for a refund from the county. We do not know of any authority for paying court cost out of restitution and then waiting for reimbursement.

Recommendation

We recommend that the clerk set up a petty cash account by board approval.

Circuit Clerk's Response

Hancock County has established a procedure to pay these costs on the claims docket.

On July 8, 1987, Sam J. Pennicaro, Supervisor, District 4, was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of corrupt practices with regard to purchases using public funds. These charges stemmed from "Operation Prebaise," an undercover investigation of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Sentence has not been imposed.

The findings in this management report came to our attention as a result of audit procedures and tests. These procedures and tests cannot and do not provide absolute assurance that the county conducted its operations in compliance with all legal requirements. In accordance with Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), the State Auditor's office, when deemed necessary, may conduct additional procedures and tests of transactions and records for this or other fiscal years to insure compliance with legal requirements.

Waveland Elementary students compete in Regional Science Fair

Twenty-six Waveland Elementary School students will compete in the Regional Science Fair on March 18 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

These students were winners in the school science fair on Feb. 23. Students in grades K-3 and Resource Classes were encouraged to participate. Students in grade four were required to participate and did receive a grade for their project.

There were approximately 250 projects entered in the local science fair.

Participation in any Regional Mississippi Science Fair is limited to a maximum of three entrants in each of the Mississippi Science and Engineering Fair's categories.

The 1988 Waveland Elementary Science Fair winners are:

Behavioral and Social Sciences Grade 1-3, Casey Bernard; Grade 4, Helen Penrose, Ross Johnson and Joy Knight.

Zoology, Medicine and Health Grades 1-3, Thomas Whitman, Steven Heaps and Courtney Bourgeois; Grade 4, Dawn Perkins and Jason Mauffray.

Botany and Microbiology

Grades 1-3, Randall Humphrey and Seth Johnson; Grade 4, Michelle Kendrick and Kendall Marquar.

Math, Computers, Earth and Space Grades 1-3, Angela Baldree, Rachel Spear and Belle Penrose; Grade 4, Kaleb Marske.

Chemistry and Biochemistry Grades 1-3, Kimberly Storey, Angie Betz and John Mullen; Grade 4, Kristie Pearce and Miranda Spear.

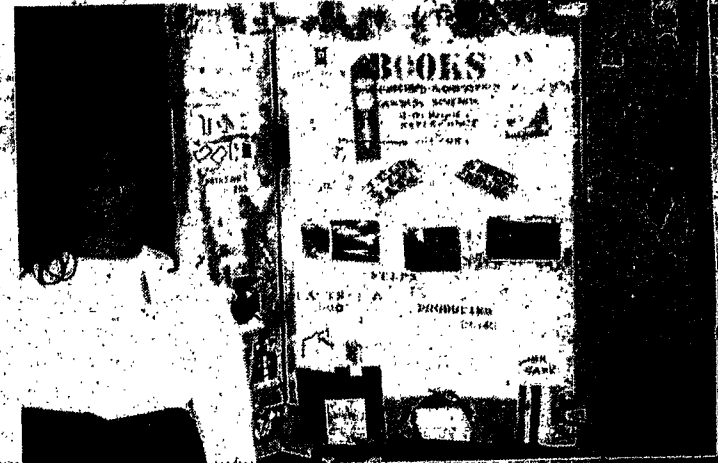

Physics and Engineering Grades 1-3, Leanne Baldree, Raymond Ramsey and Kevin Kosbab; Grade 4, Jacob Myers.

All students who entered a project in the science fair received a first, second or third place ribbon. Regional Science Fair winners received a trophy also.

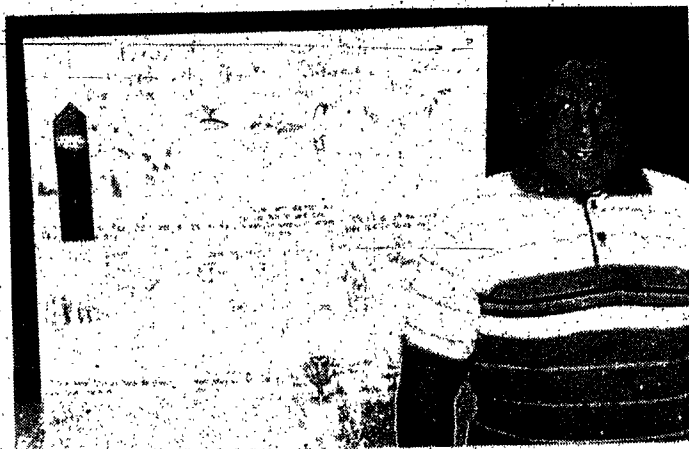

Although there is no regional competition for kindergarten and special education students, the science fair judges were very impressed with the projects. Each of the projects entered was awarded a first place ribbon.

USM Day scheduled March 30

HATTIESBURG—Alumni chapters and groups across the state and country are making plans for Mar. 30, the annual observance of the founding of the University of Southern Mississippi (USM Day).

"We're striving for quality meetings this year," noted USM Alumni Association Director, Ron Phillips, adding, "We're featuring a series of regional meetings in cooperation with the athletic department, in order that our people get an opportunity to meet (new USM head football) Coach Curley Hallman."

Speakers for the various meetings will be dispatched from the Hattiesburg campus to chapter meetings within a 150-mile radius of USM. Other groups will schedule videotapes on loan from the university and other activities such as cookouts, pot-luck suppers and covered-dish dinners.

The meetings normally are a time when chapters elect local officers for the coming year and formulate plans for homecoming, set this year for Oct. 29.

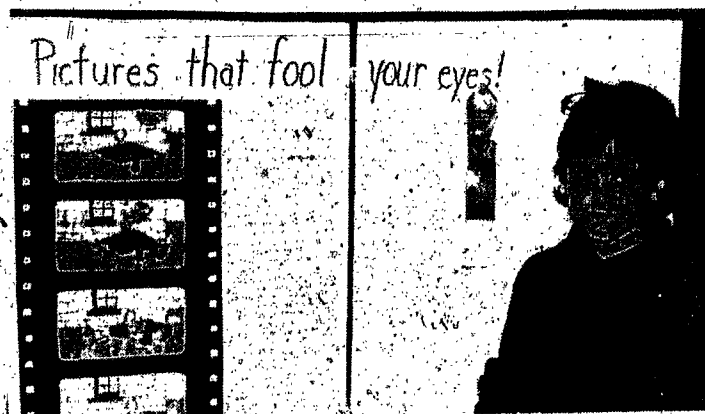

For more information about the scheduled meetings or to schedule a speaker, call the Ogletree House at (601) 286-5013.

ETV Brief

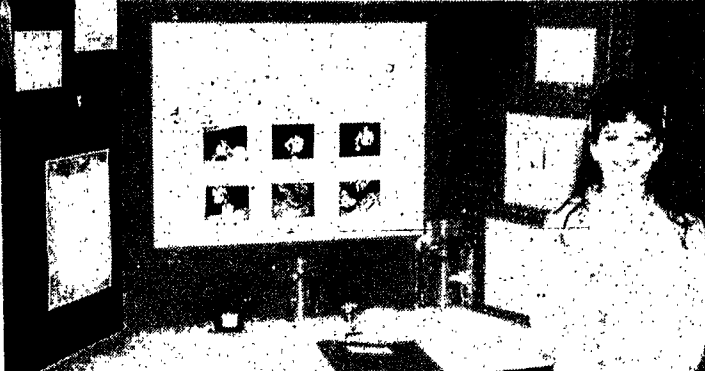

BUDDY HOLLY
"The day the music died." In his hit "American Pie," Don McLean mourned the tragic death of a skinny kid from Lubbock named Buddy Holly.

ETV viewers can remember "Peggy Sue" and the other hits of Buddy Holly when "Buddy Holly and the Crickets: A Tribute" airs at 9:30 p.m., Thursday, Mar. 10.

Host Kris Kristofferson welcomes the Crickets, Don McLean, John Fogerty, Brian Setzer, Marshall Crenshaw and a gathering of Holly contemporaries and fans to this 90-minute salute to the hard-driving rock of the tall, bespectacled musician who died tragically in a plane crash in 1959.

POPLARVILLE—A record enrollment, new construction projects, implementation of many new programs and a name change are just a few of the many highlights of the 1987 year at Mississippi's first junior college.

"But even with all this activity, 1987 will probably be known best as the year Pearl River Community College spent extra time in evaluating its direction."

The River has never moved more swiftly nor been more straightforward toward its appointed goal. Pearl River College is on a roll and more importantly, it has a chartered course.

Under the direction of second-year president Ted J. Alexander, Pearl River College is experiencing fabulous growth. The following are the highlights.

Pearl River's enrollment has jumped 20 percent over the last two years. In fact, all five previous semesters, including the '87 summer session, have been records.

The 1986 fall semester was up 12 percent, while the '87 fall session saw an eight percent jump. The 1987 and the current '88 spring semesters are also records.

There are nearly 2,000 full-time day students at the Poplarville campus and more than 3,200 students in the entire Pearl River system.

Pearl River began the Mississippi junior college concept in 1921 and is recognized as the pioneer junior college in the state and one of the first (if not the first) public junior colleges in the nation.

Naturally, things have changed over the years and Pearl River has continued to be a front-runner in providing the best educational offerings possible.

"This past fall, Pearl River's Board of Trustees approved the change of Pearl River Junior College to Pearl River Community College."

"Community College gives a truer picture of what we are all about as we approach the 1990's," said Dr. Alexander. "We are merely joining the ranks of 1,100 other community colleges across the nation."

Pearl River provides academic transfer courses as well as vocational-technical offerings, adult continuing education, industry start-up and adult basic skills programs.

"We provide for the educational needs of the community," said Dr. Alexander. "That is our mission...our reason for existence."

An example of listening to the citizens of the area and evaluating their needs, six new programs were added to the 1987-'88 curriculum.

New programs included at the Poplarville campus are a truck driving class, a single parent-displaced homemaker program and a barber school.

An electronics technology program began at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant which is operated by Mason Chamberlain.

This established an Associate in Applied Science-degree program in electronics at the National Space Technology Laboratories.

Gifted application deadline is March 31

HATTIESBURG—The University of Southern Mississippi Center for Gifted Studies has set a March 31 application deadline for its 1988 summer residential program for intellectually gifted children.

The 1988 Summer Gifted Studies Program, set for June 12-23, will offer a choice of two courses for gifted children enrolled in grades 4-8. A study of the relationship between the brain and the mind will be offered in sections for grades 4-6 and grades 7-8. It is designed to develop scientific and library research skills, communication, group dynamics techniques, creativity and thinking skills.

Another study analyzing and critiquing major art periods, artists and

At the Pearl River College Forrest County Center in Hattiesburg, a secondary and post-secondary program are offered. Diversified technology is available to juniors and seniors in the Forrest County area, and an airconditioning and refrigeration one-year postsecondary program was started for adults.

"May and June were the two most productive months in Pearl River's efforts to add several affordable, quality educational opportunities for citizens of south Mississippi," said Dr. Alexander.

"This is a textbook example of the fulfillment of the true role of the community and junior colleges," said Dr. Alexander. "Speaking on behalf of our board of trustees, we're extremely pleased."

The Pearl River College barber program began Jan. 1 and it is the only public community and junior college barber program serving 29 counties of south Mississippi.

At the present time, there are only three public barber programs in the state; one at Coahoma Junior College and two at Hinds—one on the Raymond campus and the other at Utica. Until now there have been no public barber schools in Mississippi.

The new PRC program is a 1,500-hour, one-year certificate program housed at the Poplarville campus.

The Pearl River College electronic technology program at the National Space Technology Laboratory (NSTL) located in Hancock County will serve the needs of Mason Chamberlain, Pan Am and Sverdrup Corporations, as well as any of the other NSTL companies.

At the present time there are approximately 5,000 people employed at NSTL. The program is an associate in applied science degree program and will be taught after work hours. The 15 semester hours general education courses will be taught by the PRC adult studies program already in place at NSTL.

The air-conditioning/refrigeration program at the Forrest County Center is a one-year, post-secondary, vocational certificate course.

From 1970-'86, the program operated as a secondary program. However, during the '85-'86 school year, the total enrollment was less than 20 students and the Bureau of Vocational-Technical Education chose to cut the program.

Since the adult demand has generated so much interest and letters of endorsement from the business in the Forrest County area, the program was re-instated.

The first of the new programs to actually get off the ground, or should we say on the road, was the Pearl River Commercial Truck Driving School.

Starting in July, on the PRC campus, the program was designed to serve the displaced worker in the Pearl River College six-county district.

The Truck Driving program is housed on the Poplarville campus art work also will involve its fourth-through-eighth-grade students in participatory art experiences.

Applications, completed by parents and grade-school officials and including IQ scores, will be considered in the order of receipt until March 31.

The $375, non-refundable fee, covering tuition, room, board, field trips, recreation and limited accident insurance, may be charged to VISA or Mastercard accounts.

For application forms or information, write Dr. Frances A. Karnes, Director of the Center for Gifted Studies, Southern Station Box 8207, Hattiesburg, Miss., 39406-8207; or call (601) 266-5236.

and funded through the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). All participants must be 21 years old by completion of the program and must meet the requirements and be referred by the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

Another new program that Pearl River College is providing this year is the services of a single parent/displaced homemaker coordinator.

The purpose of this program is to assist the single and/or displaced homemaker in gaining the self-confidence and marketable skills needed to obtain gainful employment and personal and financial independence.

As of the 1987 spring semester, 177 students enrolled in vocational-technical education at Pearl River Junior College met the criteria as a single parent and/or displaced homemaker. Additionally, 885 have been identified in Pearl River County and over 4,000 in our junior college district.

The coordinator of this program provides such assistance and services as assisting clients in taking and passing the General Education Development Test (GED), adult basic education classes, career assessment, employability skills, child care and transportation. In fact, services provided are virtually unlimited.

Two new staff positions and departments are giving Pearl River the added manpower to stay abreast with financial offerings and with its alumni.

Jennifer Downey is heading up the new Research Administration, Grants and Proposal division. Because of Downey's efforts, Pearl River has been awarded a $24,293 planning grant from the United States Department of Education's Strengthening Institutions Program.

Grants awarded under this program by the Office of Post Secondary Education will assist eligible (Title III) institutions of higher education with projects that will improve academic quality, institutional management and fiscal stability.

The implementation of the new Development Foundation and Alumni Affairs is being handled by Donna Wilson.

The charter of the Pearl River Foundation and election of its Board of Directors have given the college contact with outstanding leaders throughout the supporting district.

"Share the Magic" is the slogan being used during the first Pearl River College Development Foundation Fund Drive. The drive is well on its way to reaching the $60,000 goal for the current year.

Wilson is also busy organizing Alumni chapters in each of the six PRC supporting counties. The PRC district includes Pearl River, Forrest, Hancock, Marion, Lamar and Jefferson Davis.

Pearl River will soon hire a data processing director, who will work toward the implementation of a new computer, data processing program which will handle institution and curriculum offerings.

During the 1987 Pearl River was the recipient of one of the largest gifts ever presented to a Mississippi community or junior college.

Tatum Land Management Limited of Hattiesburg donated 36 acres of land within the city limits of Hattiesburg to PRC through the PRC Development Foundation.

The acreage is adjacent to the Pearl River College Forrest County campus, on Highway 49 south, and is within the massive 4,400 acre commercial and residential development proposed by Tatum Land Management Limited.

As soon as the Tatum Land Management Limited acquisition was in hand, wheels were in motion to locate an Allied Health Professional Center in Hattiesburg at the Forrest County Center.

Pearl River received more good news in early December when the Forrest County Board of Supervisors voted to unanimously support a $1.5 million bond issue for the construction of the new center.

The expanded center will be built on a portion of the acreage provided by Tatum Land Management Limited.

Proposed programs in the new allied health center include surgical technology, associate degree in respiratory therapy, dental hygienist, dental assisting, practical nursing, nurse's aid and medical transcriptionist.

On the Poplarville campus a new technology training center is almost assured as $1 million has been allocated through matching state and federal funding.

The addition to the home campus will help alleviate a cramped classroom situation and provide for new innovative technology programs. Plans are also in the works for a couple of new dormitories and an addition to the science building.

During the past two and one-half years, Pearl River has spent, or will spend, nearly two million dollars on renovation and construction on the Poplarville campus.

The renovation includes the remodeling of Pearl River and White resident halls, the repair of the bathroom facilities in Huff Hall, and the waterproofing of Moody Hall.

Roofing of a dozen or so buildings on the Poplarville campus and to the structures at the Lamar and Forrest County Centers are in progress at this time.

Also being built at this time is a new president's home on the main campus in Poplarville. The new structure, which will cost a little less than $250,000, will be completed this spring and will replace the current president's home which was built in 1924.

Other renovation and construction projects on the Poplarville campus include restrooms, concession stand, bleachers and a wood fence around the Wildcat baseball diamond and the painting of all buildings on campus.

Additional parking lots are also set to be built during the spring holidays.

Last year, thousands of yards of dirt were used to fill an open dump just north of the Marvin R. White Coliseum and to construct a dam to make way for a six-acre lake.

The soil erosion project quickly turned into a beautification endeavor on the PRC campus. Plans are to have a physical fitness trail around the lake.

"We have had a massive amount of construction work during the past few months," said Ron Holmes, PRC's business manager. "The additional good news is that we are still in a strong, sound, financial shape."

Pearl River faculty and staff members also received an eight percent average raise this past summer and that was the second biggest increase by any junior college in the state.

River and its 14 sister institutions across the state accepts the responsibility to overcome major obstacles for the state to significantly improve its economy.

"We have to dramatically increase the ability of our people to be productive in the workplace," said Dr. Alexander. "At the present time there are over 20,000 people, 11 years of age and older, in Mississippi who have no high school diploma and between 300,000 and 550,000 people who do not have basic functional literacy skills."

"A better educated citizenry and additional quality academic, vocational and technical course offerings will enhance the process for additional economic development," said Dr. Alexander.

"The next 12 to 24 months could be an even more exciting period of growth and development for Pearl River College," said Dr. Alexander.

Neck strain from poor posture, or from an accident of some kind, can result in a variety of shoulder, arm or hand problems, with accompanying pain. The cause is often an irritation or "pinching" of the large nerves in the neck as they leave the spine and extend into the extremities. An understanding of these conditions can help you avoid problems and suffering.

Phillips Junior College now serving more than 700 students in eight fields

Phillips Junior College in Gulfport is now serving more than 700 students of business and technology as a fully accredited junior college.

The school began in 1927 as a small secretarial school with five students.

Phillips is now fully accredited and offers two-year associate of science degrees in electronics, computer data processing, business management, accounting, secretarial, legal assistant, medical assistant and travel-tourism, according to its president, Dennis Dollar.

In 1987, the school became fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. The college has been accredited by the Association of Independent Colleges and Schools since 1976.

In 1987, college enrollments at Phillips increased more than 15 percent over 1986, Dollar added.

He said he expects another 10 percent increase during the coming year.

"The Mississippi Gulf Coast is a pro-education community, and this is important to a growing college," Dollar said.

"Also, many students on the Gulf Coast are oriented towards the type of hands-on, career-oriented education offered by Phillips Junior College.

During 1988, school officials hope to expand teaching and laboratory equipment to offer greater hands-on learning experiences.

In addition to Dollar, the school is headed by Director of Academic Affairs J. Sue Hargrove, Director of Admissions Jay Lambeth and Director of Physical Plant Henry P. Capdepon.

Edward Guardanapo serves as director of student services, Cheri Heflin is director of job placement and Pam Carlisle is director of financial aid.

Coast Episcopal registration

Coast Episcopal Schools has announced the opening of registration for the 1988-89 school year.

Coast Episcopal Schools, which was founded in 1950 is co-educational and educates students in pre-school through 12th grades at two campuses. The elementary school is located at 912 South Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis, and the high school is located on Espy Avenue in Pass Christian.

Coast Episcopal's demanding and highly enriched college preparatory curriculum offers students a challenging environment where each student can excel according to interests and talents.

Small classes encourage a close faculty-student relationship and allows time for individual attention. Field trips to many cultural and educational events on the Coast and in New Orleans are sponsored by the school. The fifth and sixth grades travel to Washington, D.C. and Williamsburg during the spring.

An extensive athletic program at the junior high and senior high level includes football, volleyball, basketball, soccer, softball, track and tennis.

Coast Episcopal Schools is a member of the Mississippi Private School Association and the Mississippi Private School Athletic Association.

For more information contact Dr. Thomas Bates, Headmaster, Coast Episcopal Schools, P.O. Box N, Pass Christian, MS 39571 or call 452-9442 or 467-5125.

Director announces Science Fair schedule

OCEAN SPRINGS—Sharon H. Walker, director of the Region VI Science and Engineering Fair, has announced the schedule of activities and coordinators for the Friday, March 18, regional competition at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

"The Region VI fair is scheduled on the Coast for the third year through the joint sponsorship of the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium, the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity and the University of Southern Mississippi," Mrs. Walker, Sea Grant education specialist, said. "We are expecting more than 1,300 students from public and private schools in Stone, George, Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties to compete."

Students in grades 1-6 compete in six subject categories and grades 7-12 in 11 categories. Students must have placed in the top three in their category and grade class in schoolwide or citywide competitions to advance to the regional fair.

All projects are judged on creativity and originality, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, and clarity of presentation and discussion.

Area—research, industry, education, military and health care, organizations and agencies provide judges for the event. Judges coordinators are Ms. Bess Moffatt, Pascagoula High School; Dr. Sheila A. Brown, Jefferson Davis Community College; Ms. Betty MacTaggart, Keesler Air Force Base; and Dr. M.E. Henegar, retired, Keesler Air Force Base.

Elementary registration coordinators are Ms. Julia Lowery, Bel-Aire Elementary School, and Ms. Linda Mucha, Orange Grove Middle School. Secondary registration coordinators are Mrs. Mike Cain and Mrs. Mary Webb, Stone High School.

Two finalists from the regional event will compete in the 39th International Science and Engineering Fair in Knoxville, Tenn., May 8-14. The two finalists, two alternates and other winners from Region VI in grades 7-12 will advance to state competition at Jackson State University on April 15. Eligible for state competition are first through third place winners in grades 7-8 and first through fifth place winners in grades 9-12.

Fair activities include:

Project set up for elementary grades 1-6, 8-10 a.m.; set up for secondary grades 7-12, 8-11 a.m.; elementary judges orientation, 9-10 a.m.; secondary judges orientation, noon until 1 p.m.

Library system initiative challenges illiteracy in Hancock

Hancock County is 'ALITE', says Helene Roth, coordinator of the Adult Literacy Education Program (ALITE) which provides certified Laubach literacy training to volunteer tutors who in turn teach adults in Hancock County who want to learn to read.

In October, Roth became the full-time coordinator of the literacy program which is funded by county library funds and a State Department of Education literacy grant through the Hancock County Library System.

A native of Ohio, Roth received her BA in English from Barat College, Lake Forest, Ill., and her MA in English from DePaul University.

The present literacy program in Hancock County is a result of a program founded by Roth in 1984 when as a member of the Holy Spirit Missionary Sisters, an international religious order, she was sent to Bay St. Louis to establish literacy education. After receiving certification training in Laubach literacy instruction, Roth began tutoring individuals in the convent and at student's homes.

Funding for the program was non-existent until it drew the attention of Barbara White, Hancock County School District's Adult Basic Education instructor at the time.

White, recognizing the value of the literacy program recommended it to the ABE coordinator for the county, Phillip Terrell, who purchased adult literacy tests and materials within the ABE budget.

In the spring of 1986, Roth left her religious community, but remained in Hancock County and was employed by Bay Tech Associates. Literacy classes were maintained only through the consensus of students and teachers; no formal management was done.

However, through the interest and initiative of Prima Wusnack, director of the Hancock County Library System, a grant was received from Gulf Coast Business Services allowing for a part-time coordinator, tutor training and materials for a literacy program. The project gathered new life under the auspices of the county library system during 1987.

In October, local library funds and a State Department of Education literacy grant allowed for a full-time coordinator, a position which Roth accepted.

Today ALITE has trained 42 Laubach tutors and is working with more than 20 non-certified volunteers, ranging in age from 16 to 75 years of age, according to Roth.

"Although a tutor may be a doctor of bio-chemistry, a military retiree, a psychiatrist, a housewife, a nurse, a bank official, a librarian, a storekeeper," says Roth, "there is only a single requirement they share, and that is that one reading adult cares enough to learn how to share the gift of reading with another adult."

"It is a gift that the tutor brings to a student: one of time, training, continued concern and involvement in the life of another adult," notes Roth.

In turn, the student brings his or her own gifts to the tutor: motivation, personal experience, a wealth of memorized facts and information, and admiration for a stranger who will help him learn to read and write," explains Roth.

According to the tutors, the triumphs of the learners brings much reward to their volunteer teaching.

A Japanese woman learns the routine of an automatic bank teller; a minister reads the wedding ceremony in his church for the first time; a man learns to read a map so his family can visit the zoo; a mother reads storybooks she had brought for her children years ago; a young man gets his driver's license; a young woman becomes an American citizen—these are the celebrations of a new reader and the tutors who were by their sides on the road to literacy.

From the beginning ALITE has seen itself as a county-wide program and is expanding its learning sites to accommodate various areas of the county. Diamondhead ALITE has been using the facilities offered by St. Thomas Episcopal Church as the meeting place for Kilm/Standard students and Waveland ALITE will be using meeting space at First Assembly of God Church. The county branch libraries of Kilm and Waveland are used for tutoring sessions. The headquarters library on Hwy. 90 is not only used during the day for tutoring sessions, but is open two nights a week to accommodate literacy classes and the county school district's GED classes.

According to the 1980 Census, 42 percent of the population of Hancock County over the age of 25 has no high school diploma. The consequent level of functional illiteracy is apparent; yet such illiteracy can be completely eliminated, according to Roth.

"If each reading adult would teach another how to read we'd have a literate society," says the literacy coordinator. "The work has begun in Hancock County; for us there is ALITE shining in our communities."

USM offers variety of non-credit, fun courses

HATTIESBURG—Area residents can study creative writing, enhance personal resource skills or learn scullian cooking by enrolling in a University of Southern Mississippi non-credit course.

These courses, and others beginning in February, are offered through USM's Division of Lifelong Learning. They will focus on topics such as self-enrichment, professional development, sports and the arts. There also are courses designed specifically for children.
